Wyomissing, PA?Dr. Brian K. Reedy of Berks Plastic Surgery has been named one of America's Best Plastic Surgeons for 2024 by Newsweek magazine for his excellence in liposuction for the fourth consecutive year. In addition to winning in the category for liposuction, the board-certified Reading, PA plastic surgeon has also previously been recognized for breast augmentation. This year's award continues to highlight Dr. Reedy's exceptional skills in body contouring procedures and joins a long list of significant achievements Dr. Reedy has earned throughout his career.

?I am deeply honored to again be recognized by Newsweek as one of America's Best Plastic Surgeons,? said Dr. Reedy, one of two highly experienced plastic surgeons at Berks Plastic Surgery. ?Performing liposuction as a standalone procedure, or using it paired with other body sculpting procedures, is extremely effective for aesthetically tuning the figure and highlighting desirable areas. Beyond delivering attractive, personalized, and natural-looking results, I always want my patients to have an excellent experience too: my team and I use advanced techniques before, during, and after surgery to set each patient up for a speedy and comfortable recovery.?

Dr. Reedy's recognition comes at a time when elective plastic surgery is more popular than ever, with recent data showing the number of cosmetic surgical procedures in the U.S. has surged from 900,000 in 1997 to over 1.87 million in recent years. This marked increase in aesthetic procedures is a testament to the availability of safer, less-invasive options with quicker recoveries, as well as shifting public opinions on plastic surgery. However, the popularity of the cosmetic medical niche has tempted unscrupulous doctors into offering plastic surgery procedures without proper training, and patients must be careful to vet their provider's experience. Awards such as Newsweek's help the public identify the most highly trusted options.

The America's Best Plastic Surgeons 2024 rankings by Newsweek recognized only a small number of elite surgeons across five major cosmetic procedure categories: breast augmentation, liposuction, facelift, rhinoplasty, and eyelid surgery, ultimately honoring only 379 remarkable surgeons with this coveted award. Newsweek's selection process involved thousands of medical experts, including doctors, clinic managers, and other medically knowledgeable professionals. These industry experts were surveyed and asked to name the leading plastic surgeons for each procedure, both within and outside their respective states. Based on the number of recommendations, a quality assessment, and relevant certification, each surgeon was given a score to determine their ranking. Surgeons were not allowed to self-nominate, reflecting the unbiased nature of Newsweek's designations. In total, over 8,400 votes were submitted for each procedure.

"It is exciting to see our dedication to exceptional patient outcomes and surgical excellence recognized at a national level," said Dr. Reedy. "Knowing these rankings were determined by peers who are just as passionate about helping patients, and fully understand the nuanced challenges of achieving natural-looking plastic surgery results, means the world to us."

Dr. Reedy's superior ability to achieve safe, outstanding liposuction results is showcased across his social media platforms, offering prospective patients real-life examples of the stunning effects of liposuction, whether patients seek subtle refinements to their contours or desire more transformative changes seen with combination procedures like Reading mommy makeovers.
