Reflux Guard To Conduct Compliance Survey Of Mattress Wedge Users

January 19, 2016

January 19, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Reflux Guard© has announced that they will be doing a compliance survey of users of the company's mattress wedge, which is designed for those who have acid reflux problems. The goal is to present key findings to doctors, demonstrating that patients may be suffering for no good reason. It is hoped that this will bring about real change, particularly for those people who suffer from reflux. Full details are available through <http://www.refluxguard.com/under-mattress-wedge-compliance-study-for-doctors>.

Tommy Stern from Reflux Guard© says: "We believe that if doctors realize their patients aren't complying, and they clearly communicate how effective an under mattress wedge is, they will have better success helping their patients."

The business aims to prove this theory through their study. The company, which produces a mattress wedge designed specifically for people who have reflux issues, have long been involved in finding non-pharmaceutical solutions. As can be seen on <http://www.refluxguard.com/blog/which-mattress-bed-wedge-works-best-for-acid-reflux>, their goal is to ensure people can find comfort and thereby enhance their overall quality of life. They believe that, by demonstrating the benefits of the wedge, doctors will start to recommend it to their patients, thereby ensuring they are able to receive good treatment without the need for chemical alternatives.

The mattress wedge has received a wealth of positive reviews from people who suffer from acid reflux, which has prompted the company to launch their new study. "My name is Elliot and I've been using Reflux Guard© for 6 months. I decided for once to just enjoy. I ate everything that looked tempting, not thinking twice, about what would happen later than night. The next morning, after a good night's sleep, I was a believer. Reflux Guard© works. It's as simple as that. I don't have to buy all those pills or other methods that just don't work. Relief is as easy as one Reflux Guard©."

The company has also released a lot of information on acid reflux as a condition itself. This can be accessed through

As the positive reviews from people who suffer from the condition keep coming in, Reflux Guard© aims to make a real change to the world of medicine in relation specifically to this condition.
