Knowledge Train Announces its Support for The Be Enriched Charity

October 01, 2024

LONDON, UK - October 01, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

London, England, 1st October 2024, 09:00GMT ? Knowledge Train, a prominent provider of project management training in the UK, has announced a significant donation to Be Enriched, a charity dedicated to reducing food waste and addressing food poverty. This partnership underscores the importance of corporate social responsibility in tackling the critical issue of food waste, which sees nearly 10 million tonnes of food wasted yearly in the UK, enough to feed over 30 million people. With 8.4 million people living in food poverty in the UK, the efforts of Enriched are more important than ever.

Simon Buehring, Managing Director of Knowledge Train, commented on the donation: ?We are delighted to support Be Enriched in their mission to reduce food waste and combat food poverty. At Knowledge Train, our core values drive us to contribute positively to society, and partnering with Be Enriched aligns with our commitment to social responsibility. We believe that through this contribution, we can help make a tangible difference in the lives of those struggling with food insecurity.? This statement highlights the alignment of Knowledge Train's values with the impactful work being done by Be Enriched. Buehring also noted that this partnership is a testament to the company's dedication to addressing critical societal issues through meaningful and sustainable actions.

By engaging with these initiatives, the public can better understand the crucial role of corporate contributions in fostering community well-being.

Sevcan Yasa, Marketing Manager at Knowledge Train, added: "Our partnership with Be Enriched not only supports a crucial cause but also reflects the diverse concerns of our team. By donating to charities that resonate with our staff, we ensure that our corporate social responsibility efforts are both impactful and inclusive." Be Enriched has been making strides since its formation in 2013, initially starting with the Canteens Project and expanding to serve over 3,000 meals in 2022 via Community Canteens and the innovative Food Bus. Yasa further emphasized that such collaborations are essential in creating sustainable solutions to food poverty and fostering stronger communities.

The collaboration between Knowledge Train and Be Enriched exemplifies the potential for corporate social responsibility to drive positive change in communities. With food waste and food poverty being significant issues, the support from businesses like Knowledge Train can lead to substantial improvements in food distribution and accessibility. This partnership could inspire other companies to adopt similar initiatives, fostering a more equitable and sustainable society. As the importance of addressing food waste becomes increasingly recognised, the role of corporate entities in this endeavour will likely expand. Such efforts not only benefit those in need but also contribute to a more sustainable and responsible business ecosystem.
