

OptiSkyn in Quad Cities Unveils Revolutionary Red Light Therapy for Radiant Skin

October 15, 2024

October 15, 2024 -
OptiSkyn Skin Care Clinic has announced a big addition to its range of skin treatments. They're now offering Red Light Therapy, a non-invasive treatment that uses specific light wavelengths to improve skin health. This therapy works by penetrating the skin to boost cellular activity, which can help reduce inflammation, speed up healing, and increase collagen production. The result is healthier, more vibrant-looking skin. This approach can also potentially improve conditions like wrinkles, fine lines, scars, and stubborn wounds.

Yvonne Wright, who founded OptiSkyn and is a certified Plasmatologist, shared her excitement about adding Red Light Therapy to their services. She explained how this treatment matches the clinic's goal of offering cutting-edge, effective skincare solutions. Introducing this therapy shows OptiSkyn's dedication to using FDA-approved and lab-tested methods, ensuring each treatment is safe and effective.

The addition of Red Light Therapy is a strategic boost to the clinic's popular treatments, such as the well-known Plasma Pen method. This technique uses plasma energy to cause tiny traumas on the skin's surface, which triggers natural healing. The skin responds by producing new collagen and elastin, resulting in a tighter and refreshed appearance. These methods meet the growing need for personalized skin treatments that provide lasting results.

OptiSkyn offers a variety of skin rejuvenation packages tailored to different needs. Options range from the Starter Package, for smaller areas and minor issues, to the Upper or Lower Face Transformation, which focuses on specific facial areas. For a thorough makeover, clients can choose the Full Facial Transformation, which revives the upper, mid, and lower face. Each package is personalized to meet individual needs, aiming to deliver the best care and noticeable improvements.

As Yvonne Wright puts it, "Our introduction of Red Light Therapy aligns with OptiSkyn's mission to provide effective skin care treatments. We aim to offer our clients choices that match their unique needs while ensuring we remain at the forefront of advancements in skin therapy."

For those curious about the new Red Light Therapy or interested in setting up a consultation, more details are available on the clinic's website.
