

Cloud Voice Provider Stage 2 Networks Names Jimmy Riordan As VP Sales And Marketing

January 20, 2016

January 20, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Stage 2 Networks, a leading provider of Cloud Communications and VoIP services headquartered in New York, is proud to announce that they have named Jimmy Riordan VP of Sales and Marketing. Known for its excellence in customer service, they are entrusting one of the most important elements of their overall operation to Riordan. They fully trust that he will be able to carry this torch.

Joe Gillette, CEO of Stage 2 Networks, says: "I have known Jimmy for close to 10 years and worked with him here at Stage 2 Networks for most of that time. Jimmy has the product knowledge and the institutional knowledge necessary to be successful and he brings a focus on results that I look for in executive leadership. I am excited for both Jimmy and Stage 2 to make him our VP of Sales and Marketing."

As Vice President of Sales & Marketing, Jimmy will be responsible for managing Stage 2's entire sales organization (Account Management, Direct and Channel Sales), increasing new sales revenues, and driving overall product and marketing strategy. He joined the company in 2008 as a Senior Account Executive, managing high-level accounts and new client relationships. He later transitioned into Channel Sales where he was responsible for developing and managing the indirect sales channel of Stage 2 partners. After several years as the company's top sales performer, Jimmy progressed to a Director-level position where he managed multiple Channel Sales Executives within the sales organization.

Prior to joining Stage 2 Networks, he was a Financial Sales Representative with Northwestern Mutual. Jimmy earned a B.A. in 2006 from the University of Pennsylvania where he was a four-year starter on the varsity lacrosse team.

Since 2005, the mission of Stage 2 Networks has been to provide superior voice solutions and mission critical business communications in leading US and global markets. They specialize in Cloud Voice, SIP Trunking, Unified Communications, internet connectivity and MPLS. Using a suite of custom, on-demand voice and data services, Stage 2's dedicated team of experts design a solution that fits their client's specific requirements.
