Dehumidifier Corporation of America's Commitment to USA Manufacturing Boosts Product Quality Control

October 23, 2024

CEDARBURG, WI - October 23, 2024 -
Dehumidifier Corporation of America (DCA) has announced that it proudly manufactures its line of commercial-grade dehumidifiers in the United States. This shows DCA's commitment to producing high-quality and reliable dehumidification solutions right at its facility in Cedarburg, Wisconsin. Making their products domestically lets them maintain strict quality control standards, meeting the needs of a diverse range of customers, including hotels, fitness centers, and various industrial facilities.

"We take pride in the craftsmanship and dedication that goes into each dehumidifier we produce," said Mitch Gronstar, CEO of DCA. "Being able to manufacture our products in America means we can ensure the highest level of quality and reliability for our clients, from planning through to final installation."

DCA offers a wide range of dehumidification solutions designed for different environments, such as hotel pool rooms and industrial areas, including custom projects. Each system is carefully crafted to meet specific needs, enhancing air quality and comfort. The company also provides specialized support tools and product assistance to ensure long-lasting and efficient use of its dehumidifiers. More information can be found on their website at https://dehumidifiercorp.com/ where clients can explore various applications and services offered.

Moreover, DCA offers an easy-to-use selection software that helps clients choose the right dehumidifier. This tool considers aspects like space size, current moisture conditions, and desired humidity levels to suggest an effective and efficient option. Additionally, DCA has a free project analysis service to guide potential clients in choosing the best dehumidification solutions for their unique situations, helping them get the most from their investment.

DCA's strong focus on quality and customer service has earned it a trusted reputation. Their dehumidifiers are used by many commercial and industrial clients across the Untied States.

DCA's reach goes beyond their production facility. The company engages with its audience online through platforms like DCA's Facebook page. This page provides insights into their products and highlights innovations. It's a vital channel for sharing company news, updates, and inviting clients to industry events.

Additionally, DCA has a comprehensive website offering detailed information about their operations and history. This resource includes handy tools like a growhouse eBook, a troubleshooting guide, and a product brochure. The website covers products, applications, service, and support, ensuring clients have the necessary resources readily available.

Dehumidifier Corporation of America stands out as a leading manufacturer focused on quality control, customer service, and maintaining its roots in American manufacturing.
