Momentors, a leader in business and life coaching, is proud to announce its partnership with Engel & Völkers of St. Augustine, a luxury real estate brokerage led by Jennifer and Greg Bryndal. This collaboration aims to provide additional value to Engel & Völkers agents through personalized coaching and consulting services designed to enhance their performance in the ever-changing real estate landscape.

By aligning with Engel & Völkers, Momentors is poised to help agents navigate industry challenges while maximizing their potential for success.

As part of this partnership, Momentors founder Kevin Waugaman will deliver one-on-one coaching and group sessions on a weekly basis. His extensive experience in helping real estate companies and agents thrive in challenging markets positions Momentors as an ideal fit for Engel & Völkers.

This initiative reflects the firm's commitment to growth and adapting to agents' evolving expectations from their brokerage.

“Engel & Völkers is a luxury brand with a strong foundation, and I’m excited to contribute to their mission of excellence,” said Kevin Waugaman. “By implementing people, systems, and processes, we’ll help their agents not only navigate current market dynamics but also accelerate their growth.”

Momentors specializes in personalized coaching programs aimed at unlocking individual potential and fostering professional success. The collaboration with Engel & Völkers will focus on several key areas, including:

Individual Coaching: Tailored sessions to guide agents through personal growth and business development, leading to improved financial outcomes and enhanced quality of life. These sessions will be customized to address the unique challenges each agent faces, providing strategies that align with their specific goals and aspirations.

Group Coaching: Facilitated sessions that foster teamwork and leadership skills, enabling agents to collaborate effectively and grow together as a cohesive unit. This collaborative environment encourages the sharing of best practices and collective problem-solving, ultimately leading to a stronger team dynamic.

Online Community: The “One to Grow On” platform will serve as a resource for agents seeking to enhance their personal growth and development strategies. This online community will offer access to valuable tools, resources, and networking opportunities, creating a supportive environment for continuous learning and improvement.

The partnership underscores both Momentors’ and Engel & Völkers’ commitment to providing agents with the tools they need to succeed in today’s competitive real estate market.

With Waugaman’s proven track record in training and mentoring sales professionals, agents can expect a transformative experience that emphasizes personal growth and financial success.

“As the real estate industry evolves, it’s essential that we invest in our agents’ development,” added Waugaman. “Together, we’ll create an environment where agents can thrive and reach their full potential.”
