November 13, 2024

BORREGO SPRINGS, CA - November 13, 2024 -
De Anza Desert Club Welcomes Golf Enthusiasts for its 68th Season Amidst Scenic Borrego Springs

Borrego Springs, CA ? The 68th season at the De Anza Desert Club has officially commenced, inviting golf enthusiasts to experience one of Southern California's most scenic desert courses. With fall bringing cooler temperatures and clear skies, golfers are encouraged to visit Borrego Springs to enjoy this beautifully maintained 18-hole championship course in the heart of the Anza-Borrego Desert. Complementing this experience, Divine Desert Destination offers luxurious accommodations for a restful stay after a day on the greens.

The De Anza Desert Club, known for its challenging layout and stunning natural backdrop, was originally designed by famed golf course architect Lawrence Hughes. This season, the course continues to attract golfers seeking both competition and connection with nature. The club?s location offers sweeping views of the Santa Rosa Mountains and the surrounding desert, providing a picturesque setting for players.

This 2024?2025 season brings new updates and events:

Course Condition and Enhancements: Recent renovations ensure the course remains in optimal condition. Golfers will appreciate the meticulously maintained fairways and fast, true greens.Expanded Amenities: This season introduces new dining experiences at the Coyote Den Restaurant, featuring fresh, locally inspired dishes for a post-game meal.Golf Events and Tournaments: The club?s calendar is filled with tournaments and events, catering to players of all skill levels and encouraging a welcoming, social atmosphere.

The De Anza Desert Club provides a unique opportunity for both seasoned golfers and newcomers to enjoy championship-level golf in a serene desert setting.
