

Anaheim Lighthouse Sponsors the 11th Annual California Addiction Conference

October 24, 2024

October 24, 2024 -
Anaheim, California - Anaheim Lighthouse, a leading drug and alcohol addiction treatment in Orange County, proudly sponsored the 11th Annual California Addiction Conference, which took place from October 14th to 18th, 2024, at the Sheraton Universal Hotel in Universal City, CA. This conference brought together professionals, advocates, and individuals dedicated to addiction recovery and mental health awareness.

Renowned for its comprehensive approach, the yearly conference tackled a variety of topics related to addiction treatment and recovery. Featuring a diverse lineup of expert speakers, engaging activities, and innovative discussions, the conference attracted attendees from across the country.

Anaheim Lighthouse sponsored the event to highlight its commitment to the recovery community. Tamara Jimenez, Community Relations Manager at Anaheim Lighthouse, talked about the organization's dedication to supporting initiatives that promote shared insights and healing, expressing that participating in the conference was truly enriching.

"It was inspiring to witness so many dedicated individuals coming together, each with their own unique backgrounds and experiences, yet united in their commitment to the common goal of recovery and wellness. The collective energy, enthusiasm, and passion were unparalleled and a powerful reminder of why our work is so important and meaningful. It highlighted the strength found in community and collaboration, showcasing how much more we can achieve when we support one another in this shared journey," said Jimenez.

A notable achievement for Anaheim Lighthouse was the recognition of Tamara Jimenez in the Annual CCAPP Report at this year's conference. She received the esteemed Architect of Recovery Award from CCAPP, presented to her at the state capitol in September.

Reflecting on her experience, Jimenez described the event as inspiring, noting the collective energy and shared commitment to recovery and wellness by all attendees. She expressed gratitude for the recognition and pride in representing Anaheim Lighthouse.

"We are always excited as program members to sponsor CCAPP at their conferences and events. I am very grateful to have been recognized and proud to represent Anaheim Lighthouse. This year's conference was particularly inspiring, bringing together industry leaders and passionate individuals dedicated to making a difference. The sessions were enlightening, filled with groundbreaking ideas and collaborative discussions that left us all motivated to push forward in our efforts," shared Jimenez.

The conference featured a wide range of expert speakers and activities, providing attendees with opportunities to learn about the latest challenges and solutions in addiction treatment. Topics included ethical boundaries in counseling, the role of community capital in recovery, and the intersection of harm reduction and recovery capital.

Innovative treatment approaches and cutting-edge research in addiction recovery were also highlighted during the conference. Workshops covered subjects from the ethical use of AI in telehealth to legislative updates on opioid use disorders. Esteemed keynote speakers, including Ernie G. and Dr. David Best, provided valuable insights into treatment and recovery, enriching the attendees' understanding of innovative recovery strategies.

The event also emphasized personal well-being through activities like yoga, a self-care room, and smart recovery meetings. Networking events, such as evening receptions and a Halloween party, offered informal settings for attendees to connect and share experiences.

The 11th Annual California Addiction Conference served as a vital platform for sharing knowledge and promoting community connections. Anaheim Lighthouse's involvement demonstrated its steadfast commitment to initiatives that make a meaningful impact on addiction recovery.

By supporting such events, Anaheim Lighthouse fulfills its mission to empower individuals and communities through recovery support and education. Its efforts continue to contribute to the dialogue and development necessary for advancing recovery solutions and supporting those impacted by addiction.
