Sanford, FL - Monika?s Marketplace has launched a new product to their current product line on Amazon.com, a door draft stopper with bonus storage bag. The launch of their newest product, although delayed almost one month, has finally arrived at Amazon.com and sales are moving fast.

As the cold winter months are moving in, many homes are turning on their heating units to stay warm. The problem they are facing are cold drafts of air coming in through the bottom of the doors. This not only wastes money because the heat in the home is escaping and the cold air is coming in, causing the heater to work even harder. One option is to lay a towel at the door, but that is not a very appealing look.

The other option is to get a visually attractive and efficient door draft stopper. Monika?s Marketplace offers two door draft stoppers, one in brown color and one in a burgundy color. Each door draft stopper also comes with a bonus storage bag. Therefore, when the door draft stopper is no longer needed, it can be rolled up and stored away in its own storage bag.

This door bottom blocker is 37 inches long to ensure full coverage of the door, which was a common complaint from buyers that bought similar draft stoppers. This door bottom blocker weighs 1.4 lbs to ensure it has a nice weight to it so that it stays in place at the base of the door.

The launch of the door draft stopper is very timely due to the cold weather that is settling in around the northern parts of the USA.

?Although our launch date was delayed about a month due to some shipping issues with our suppliers, the draft stoppers finally arrived and so far they have been very well received by the Amazon marketplace,? said Monika, a company representative.

These door draft stoppers can be found exclusively on Amazon.com in two color variations ? brown and burgundy. They are currently on sale for 29% off ($8 savings).

Monika?s Marketplace is a top retailer on Amazon.com that offers a variety of high quality products from baby products, kitchen gadgets and home essentials. The door draft stopper is the newest addition to their product line.
