

Lee & James Revolutionizes Real Estate Listings with Matterport 3D Tour Photographer Services

November 08, 2024

PORTLAND, OR - November 08, 2024 -
Lee & James Real Estate Photography is excited to announce the launch of its Matterport 3D Virtual Tour photography services, aimed at helping real estate professionals manage their luxury property listings more effectively. This new service reflects the company's dedication to providing cutting-edge and high-quality solutions, enabling potential buyers and renters to experience properties in a detailed and immersive way.

Matterport 3D Virtual Tours make use of the latest technology to create three-dimensional virtual walkthroughs of properties. This service gives clients a realistic view of the space, allowing them to explore every detail from the comfort of their home. It captures every angle, offering a thorough and precise model of each property.

"The introduction of Matterport 3D Virtual Tours is an important development for our business," said Michael Larrabee, co-owner of Lee & James. "We're dedicated to equipping real estate professionals with the best tools to market their properties, and this technology provides a highly interactive and engaging experience for prospective buyers."

Incorporating this advanced technology into their services meets the increasing demand for immersive viewing experiences in luxury property marketing. With Matterport 3D technology, real estate agents can present properties with greater detail and offer an experience similar to an actual viewing. Beyond showcasing interactive tours, these virtual walkthroughs allow clients to view detailed floor plans. Potential buyers and renters can take virtual measurements for furniture placement or planning renovations. This saves both agents and client's time, enabling thorough inspections at everyone's convenience.

"By offering Matterport 3D Virtual Tours, we assist our clients in highlighting the standout features of their listings," added Larrabee. "It's all about presenting the best aspects of the space and providing potential buyers with the information they need to make informed decisions."

Real estate professionals can set their listings apart with this technology, especially in a competitive market. Virtual tours attract more interest and have become a preferred method for potential buyers, particularly in the luxury segment where expectations for amenities and details are high. Besides the newly introduced 3D Tour services, Lee & James offers a wide array of real estate photography options. Their offerings include traditional photos, aerial photography, and high-quality edited images. Video services are also part of their range, enhancing social media and marketing campaigns.

With a skilled team in both photography and real estate marketing, Lee & James is dedicated to helping real estate agents showcase their properties appealingly. By merging technology with creative expertise, the company upholds its commitment to quality and simplicity, remaining a reliable partner for real estate professionals.
