Ben Killen's Solo Debut Single Featured in VENTS Magazine

November 21, 2024

New York, New York - November 21, 2024 -
B.D. Killen Music Group is excited to announce that Ben Killen's debut single, "Singing River Blues," is featured in the well-regarded VENTS Magazine. This feature highlights Killen's talent in capturing the essence of blues music with rich emotion in his first solo project, marking a big step in his artistic career.

The article delves into the significant impact of "Singing River Blues," noting how it keeps the deep roots of blues alive while bringing a new perspective. The recognition by VENTS Magazine shines a light on both the artistic quality and emotional depth of Killen's music, reflecting his commitment to authentic storytelling in his songs.

Ben Killen, an artist from Alabama, has journeyed from American Idol fame to making his mark in Americana, Folk, and Alt-Country music. His debut single reflects his journey, blending personal stories and universal themes into a blues piece that connects with listeners.

"Having 'Singing River Blues' in VENTS Magazine is not just an honor; it's a confirmation of the hard work and passion poured into this song," said B.D. Killen, expressing gratitude for the recognition. "This feature shows that storytelling through genuine music is still a powerful way to connect with people."

"Singing River Blues" is more than just a musical release; it symbolizes Killen's commitment to using his platform for social change. All the sales proceeds from the first year will be donated to charity in an effort to raise awareness for the "Living Wage for Musicians Act of 2024," aimed at bettering streaming royalties and compensation for musicians.

The recognition by VENTS Magazine arrives at a crucial time as Killen prepares for a single release show in New York City. Fans can also anticipate upcoming projects, including a possible EP or LP, and a small tour across the U.S. or North America.

B.D. Killen strives to connect with audiences through music and a wider creative vision, including philanthropy, business ventures, and visual arts. His efforts challenge industry norms with projects like CowgirlRadio.com, an online station dedicated to promoting female artists and addressing gender inequality in the music scene. By visiting CowgirlRadio.com, listeners can experience a diverse range of music that empowers female voices and contributes to a more inclusive music industry.

Killen's path is a blend of art and advocacy. Known for directing and editing his music videos, he brings a comprehensive approach to his work, aligning with his vision of music as a tool for building community and sparking discussions.

"The acknowledgment from VENTS Magazine is a reminder of what can be achieved when passion aligns with purpose," said Killen. "It's about creating music that resonates emotionally and connects people to a larger story of shared human experiences."
