Lockey Digital UK Unveils Future-Ready Keyless Lock Solutions for Enhanced Security and Convenience

January 09, 2025

Melbourn, England - January 09, 2025 -
Lockey Digital UK Ltd, a well-regarded name in the field of digital and mechanical keyless locks, has launched a new series set to shape the future of security and convenience by 2025. With 40 years of expertise, Lockey Digital is expanding its line with innovative keyless lock solutions, offering improved security features and easy access across various settings, such as homes, businesses, and institutions.

This new product range brings a host of upgrades to meet the changing needs of modern door security. With advances in digital door locks and a strong focus on quality, these new offerings aim to make access easier while boosting security. Lockey Digital's products are made in Japan, guaranteeing high reliability and a stylish design. "The launch of our new keyless lock solutions is a major step forward for our company," said Michele Fenton, CEO of Lockey Digital. "As we anticipate 2025, we remain focused on providing solid security solutions without sacrificing ease of use. We are committed to delivering top-notch products and services to our customers."

The new lineup features several cutting-edge products, each with unique attributes carefully developed by Lockey Digital's skilled team. The celebrated digital door locks in the 2000 series are part of these new offerings. Known for their flexibility, this series is compatible with fire-rated timber door sets, making it an ideal option for families and businesses that prioritize safety.

The products have also been enhanced based on customer feedback, boosting their user-friendliness. This includes Fresh Rolling Code and Code Hopping Sentry Remote Controls, which offer an easy and secure way to manage door access. Lockey Digital continues to create durable, reliable, and accessible solutions specifically designed to meet user needs.

Besides its widely respected digital locks, the expanded line now also features key safes, which enhance security setups for both homes and businesses. Lockey Digital is dedicated to providing solutions that protect important belongings and offer peace of mind. For a deeper insight into these products, visit their website.

Moreover, the lineup includes locker and cabinet locks, sliding door locks, and gate closers, all contributing to a diverse catalog that caters to various security demands. From schools to healthcare facilities and residential complexes, these products provide practical solutions while maintaining security standards.

"As we roll out these advanced keyless lock solutions, our mission is simple: to boost security while making access more convenient," Fenton added. "Our new range is built on the trust our customers have in us, upholding our promise of quality and our relentless drive for innovation."

Those interested in the full range can find a detailed overview on their product page. With a legacy based on quality craftsmanship and smart functionality, Lockey Digital leads the way in advancing keyless access solutions.

Lockey Digital's commitment to innovation is backed by a dedicated customer service team that offers support to clients seeking personalized solutions. The company prides itself on fast delivery and continually works to boost customer satisfaction.

Based in Hertfordshire, Lockey Digital is a significant player in digital and mechanical locks. Their new line confirms their dedication to maintaining their strong reputation and meeting the needs of an increasingly security-conscious market. With product durability and user-friendliness central to their designs, Lockey Digital looks to a future of efficient and secure access solutions.
