Elite Roofing & Solar Boosts Residential Roofing Services with New Senior Project Manager Kevin Cordell

November 29, 2024

November 29, 2024 -
Elite Roofing & Solar is excited to announce Kevin Cordell as the new Senior Project Manager. This move is designed to address the rising need for residential roofing services in the Denver area. Known for their top-notch roofing and solar solutions, Elite Roofing & Solar aims to expand its expertise and capability by bringing on talented professionals like Cordell.

Cordell began his journey in the contracting industry in March 2016. He has a strong background in sales and customer service, skills he sharpened before transitioning into roofing. Starting with window and siding sales, he developed a client-first approach that fits well with the customer-focused culture at Elite Roofing & Solar. By April 2018, Cordell was ready to join the team and make a notable impact on residential roofing projects.

"Kevin has been instrumental in driving our projects to completion with excellence," said Cody Hayes, Vice President of Elite Roofing & Solar. "His blend of technical expertise and passion for quality work aligns perfectly with our mission to protect and improve our clients' properties."

As Senior Project Manager, Cordell's job is to sell, manage, and oversee residential roofing projects. He works closely with homeowners to bring their ideas to life, making sure each project runs smoothly from start to finish. Cordell takes great satisfaction in transforming homes, motivated by making them both functional and beautiful.

Cordell plays a key role in maintaining Elite Roofing & Solar's reputation for high-quality work and excellent customer service. He's in charge of managing the details and logistics of roofing projects, focusing on customer satisfaction, which reinforces the company's commitment to quality. A Denver native and

University of North Dakota graduate, Cordell's familiarity with the area enhances his ability to serve local communities effectively.

With his strong background and ongoing commitment to growth, Cordell aims to expand his client base and network within Denver and Colorado Springs over the next year. He frequently visits these areas to become more integrated with the communities he serves.

Cordell's appointment is a testament to Elite Roofing & Solar's dedication to meeting and surpassing client expectations. By hiring experienced talent, the company prepares to handle the increasing demands of residential and commercial roofing, along with solar installations.

Looking ahead, Elite Roofing & Solar is thrilled about the expertise and energy Cordell adds to the team. Customers in the region can look forward to more efficient and innovative roofing services as the company continues to expand.

Elite Roofing & Solar stands as a leading provider of residential and commercial roofing services and solar installations in the Denver area. They are committed to offering quality services like roof replacements, repairs, and solar roof installations. Trust and reliability are the hallmarks of their reputation, highlighted by high ratings from sources like the Better Business Bureau, Google, and Yelp. The company focuses on sustainable practices to provide solutions that protect and improve homes and businesses.
