

Marcum Chiropractic Clinic Moves To New Location in Portland, Oregon

January 19, 2016

January 19, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Marcum Chiropractic Clinic is one of Portland's renowned chiropractors specializing in car accident injuries and trauma/whiplash. The clinic has now moved their location to a more accessible part of Portland for the ease of their patients.

Marcum Chiropractic Clinic is based in Portland, Oregon and is owned by Dr. Todd Hartwig. Having been in the area for more than 7 years, the clinic has made a name for itself and is recommended by the locals. Specializing mainly in car accident injuries, Dr. Todd is experienced in trauma and whiplash treatment. He graduated from the Western States Chiropractic College in Portland, Oregon and started at Marcum Chiropractic in 2008.

The clinic has now switched locations so that the patients can have more ease of access. According to the Marcum Chiropractic spokesperson, the clinic is now located in the central part of the city which is not only near other renowned medical services of Portland but also has lots of parking space, which is always a big issue in Portland.

The spokesperson made an official press statement in which he gave an in-depth analysis of the clinic's work in the past and announced the new location: "Here at Marcum Chiropractic, we are outfitted with all the latest equipment that a chiropractic clinic can need. While specializing in trauma, whiplash and car accident injuries, we also provide legal advice, acupuncture and more. Having specialized training in Whiplash and Brain-Injury Traumatology, Dr. Todd has earned the trust of the locals with his remarkable work."

He further spoke about the new location: "Our new clinic location is now fully functional and open to patients. We switched our location in order to be more accessible. By being more centrally located in the city, we are now close to other renowned medical services in the area and also have ease of parking."
