PORTLAND, OR - December 19, 2024 -
Lee & James Real Estate Photography is giving new clients a chance to enhance their property listings with a special offer. They are now providing a complimentary trial of their services, offering 32 high-dynamic-range photos at no cost to new customers. This offer allows potential clients to test the skill and quality of Lee & James without any financial obligation. It's part of their commitment to helping real estate professionals make their properties stand out in this competitive market. Discover more about what they offer by visiting their website.

Michael Larrabee, co-owner of Lee & James, shared, "We understand that for some agents, deciding to invest in professional real estate photography can be intimidating. By offering a free real estate photography trial, we aim to show the difference high-quality images can make in selling a property. It's an opportunity for agents to see the benefits firsthand."

Lee & James Real Estate Photography operates in Portland and has branches in Vancouver and Atlanta. The team includes skilled Portland real estate photographers dedicated to delivering top-notch services. Their comprehensive offerings are designed to present properties at their best in the market. They provide services ranging from professional photography and videography to headshots, home cleaning, and staging, catering to varied needs of real estate agents and property owners.

One of the key features of Lee & James is their same-day delivery service. This allows real estate professionals to list and promote properties quickly, which is crucial in today's fast-paced market. They use advanced equipment and techniques to capture properties beautifully, highlighting unique features that attract potential buyers. This focus on fast and professional service is a major reason the company maintains its status as a trusted partner for many real estate agents. For more details on the services offered, you can explore their photography and videography options online.

Besides property photography, Lee & James offers headshot services, which can help agents keep their marketing profiles up-to-date. According to Michael Larrabee, "Having a professional image is essential. Our headshot service helps agents present their best selves, aligning their personal brand with the quality of the properties they represent." Learn more about how their headshots can enhance your professional image on their website.

Lee & James also provide home cleaning and staging services, ensuring properties are in top shape before being photographed. The team carefully arranges furniture and decor, enhancing a home's interior and showcasing its best aspects. This attention to detail helps create appealing images that can draw more interest from potential buyers. Information on their home staging process can also be found through their online platform, offering insights into how they can maximize a property's visual appeal.

The introduction of the free real estate photography trial is part of Lee & James' broader goal to offer accessible, high-quality services and build strong relationships with clients. Their straightforward pricing, along with quality work and extras like the free trial, has won them favor with many real estate firms, including Next Home Realty Connection, EXP Realty, and Coldwell Banker Bain. By giving free photos to new clients, they hope to further solidify their reputation and grow their clientele.

For those keen on the free real estate photography trial, the process is simple. New clients can claim their free shoot by getting in touch through the company's website, making it easy and accessible. Once the photos are ready, they can be downloaded digitally, allowing agents to focus on selling their listings more effectively. Visit Lee & James Professional Real Estate Photography online to get started today and take advantage of their exceptional services.
