TUCSON, AZ - December 09, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Professor Greg Watson is announcing the return of his popular course, MKT111: Principles of Marketing, which is set to start soon. This course is designed to provide both college students and local small business owners with essential marketing knowledge to help them succeed in their respective areas. The course focuses on key marketing concepts, blending both theoretical and practical learning.

Dr. Watson is well-known for his thorough approach to teaching business, and this course is no exception. It aims to arm students and small business owners with the skills needed to understand marketing communications and strategies. The course is based on four main pillars, aiming to cover the marketing world comprehensively. It helps participants create strong brand messages, understand core marketing fundamentals, apply marketing theories to real-life situations, and develop strategies to meet market needs.

Greg Watson said, "Marketing is essential to any successful business strategy, and MKT111: Principles of Marketing aims to demystify complex marketing concepts. Our participants leave with actionable insights that they can apply immediately, whether in their current job or their own business endeavors."

Students come from a variety of backgrounds, which makes for an engaging learning environment. Both college students and local business owners benefit from diving into real-world examples, case studies, and interactive lessons. The course emphasizes building brand stories, studying market trends, and developing effective marketing campaigns.

"This course is designed to bridge the gap between theory and practice," Dr. Watson explained. "It's not just about learning concepts; it's about applying them to solve real business challenges."

At the end of the course, participants will have acquired practical skills they can use directly in their business activities. This course is perfect for those looking to enhance their marketing strategies and achieve successful business outcomes. By working through examples and getting involved in hands-on exercises, participants will gain a deeper understanding of how marketing can drive growth.

Enrollment for MKT111: Principles of Marketing is now open, and the course begins every eight to ten weeks. Those interested should consider signing up soon, as spaces are limited and fill up fast due to high interest.
