

London Supercar Hire Companies Needed For Beta Program Testing

January 26, 2016

January 26, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Lucidx, a business in London, United Kingdom, has announced that they are looking for supercar hire companies to test their beta program. The program has been designed to help them obtain 5 star reviews and thereby help with the companies' reputation management strategy. Uptake has already been very positive, and very few spaces remain for the testing phase.

Deon Bryan of Lucidx says: "We have developed a new system designed to help businesses in specific niches achieve 5 star video reviews. Before we roll it out to the general public, however, we want to make sure it works as well as what we think it does. This is why we are currently offering this unique opportunity to supercar hire companies in London to test the program out at a significantly reduced price. We're happy to see that many have already started to come forward."

The beta program is designed to be an integral part of reputation management and marketing for businesses in the supercar hire industry. Research has shown that some 75% of people look up online reviews before deciding whether or not to conduct business with a company. It has also shown that 80% of people will go to a competing company if they find so much as one negative review. This demonstrates just how important it is for companies to attract as many positive reviews as possible, and this is what the Lucidx beta program aims to achieve.

As a lead generation company in London, Lucidx has built itself a reputation as being one of the best. They have received many positive reviews for the work that they have done and they feel that those reviews are proof of how their systems actually work. "Deon and his team are extremely helpful and competent," says Chris Gibbons, a business coach. "Within a few weeks I started getting inquiries that have led to some of my best clients. I continue to work with Deon because he continues to deliver results. I have recommended him to many clients. Brilliant."

Supercar hire companies in London are encouraged to contact Deon and his team as soon as possible.
