

Lead Generation Website Through WordPress Now Possible

January 22, 2016

January 22, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Lead Generation Websites, a business in Romford, Essex, United Kingdom, has announced that they have released a new WordPress web development service. The service is designed to help people who have a WordPress site become incredibly successful. The company offers several different packages to help people achieve this, and they also offer a completely free, no obligation consultation on how to build such a website.

Robert Keating of Lead Generation Websites says: "If your website isn't performing, there are three reasons why. Firstly, your website doesn't present your brand online as effectively as it could. Secondly, your website is not as visible in Google as it needs to be. And thirdly, your website is simply not set up for lead generation. We help our clients address these three issues and then give them the tools to improve."

The company's service always starts with a full SEO audit. At present, this audit is free for selected local businesses, so prospective clients are encouraged to contact Lead Generation Websites as soon as possible to take advantage of this. This audit will clearly show them what their current standing is, and what steps they could take to improve on this.

SEO for WordPress is an art in its own right and differs from other types of SEO. This is why it is vital that people seek professional services from a company like Lead Generation Websites to help them with these processes. The strategies offered by the company have been very positively received. "After hiring Lead Generation Websites, my own website - which had done nothing for 18 months - went from nowhere to page one in a fortnight," says Mark B. "Two weeks after that it was the very first result in Google for a number of my main keywords and a week later I signed up my first client via Google. Three months later my website has maintained its rankings and regularly brings me leads and clients."

People who are looking for SEO services in London are encouraged to contact Lead Generation Websites as soon as possible to see what can be done for them.
