January 19, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Perth AU: Property valuation Perth operations have been available in Osborne Park since the 1980s. Formerly, the professional team was known as Marius Dutry valuers, Johnson-Hall Valuers and has been operational as Valuations WA since 2000. The company is independently operated and traded as a real estate consultancy firm across the whole of Western Australia. In addition to providing clients with reliable property valuation by its residential house package, the professionals have been providing reliable real estate advice that is accurate, professional and efficient at competitive rates.

Over the years of working with residential clients in Western Australia, the expertise and knowledge base of the Valuers is a reason for the lengthy history of operation. Each member of the professional team is a Certified Practising Valuer, as well as a member of the Australian Property Institute. Maintenance of certification requires Continuing Professional Development (CPD) studies through the API. The Australian Property Institute members adhere to the Code of Professional Practice, Code of Ethics and Rules of Conduct.

In the residential market, valuers provide information about valuations for stamp duty and capital gains tax purposes. Accurate knowledge is crucial for properties in deceased estates and probate purposes, as well as for valuations in related party transfers. A property which is involved in court litigation, property settlements, divorce or separation or in preparation for a purchase or sale of property needs accurate details about the valuation from an uninvolved 3rd party.

Valuations WA assists clients in the fields of law, accounting, government and strata management. Auditors and taxation specialists can access the professional team members and key people at the firm, conveniently. The company doesn't sell real estate or act as property sales agents, thus maintaining freedom from bias.

Local knowledge and experience by the Valuations WA staff and the ongoing training program ensures that the company develops with the changing picture of demographics and property types. The use of technology is another element of training for staff members. This approach means that each client receives premium service.
