Ben Killen's Debut Music Triumph: Featured on Cosmonauta Radio

December 19, 2024

New York, New York - December 19, 2024 -
B.D. Killen Music Group is thrilled to announce a remarkable development in the career of its founder and principal artist, Ben Killen. His debut single, "Singing River Blues," has been prominently featured on the renowned Spanish-language music platform, Cosmonauta Radio. This acknowledgment is a clear sign of the expanding impact and appeal of Killen's music within the vibrant worlds of blues and Americana. Known for blending elements of blues, folk, and southern rock, Killen's work continues to attract widespread acclaim.

"Singing River Blues" delves deeply into the heritage of blues music, paying tribute to the legendary W.C. Handy, also known as the Father of the Blues. The track stands out with its resophonic guitar played in open tuning, producing a sound that is both unique and engaging. This distinctive guitar work is complemented by rich layers of instrumentation, including steady drums, a powerful bass line, and an impressive brass section. Together, these elements create a musical experience that resonates equally with seasoned blues enthusiasts and those newly discovering the genre.

"The success of 'Singing River Blues' on a music platform as prestigious as Cosmonauta Radio truly highlights Ben's exceptional artistry," commented B.D. Killen, the founder of B.D. Killen Music Group. "It reflects both the timeless influences that shape Ben's music and his innovative approach to modern music creation."

Ben Killen's artistic journey is enriched by his diverse talents, which span beyond music into visual arts, philanthropy, and entrepreneurship. His creation of CowgirlRadio.com, an online country radio station, exemplifies his dedication to fostering an inclusive music industry. CowgirlRadio.com is committed to promoting female artists and challenging gender disparities in music. This station is especially focused on highlighting female artists and their narratives, addressing and challenging the gender disparities found in music airplay and representation.

Killen's commitment to progress doesn't stop at music. He is actively engaged in numerous philanthropic efforts, especially those that support women's empowerment and equality in the arts. His work in the visual arts includes collaborations with notable artists such as the Brooklyn-based Rusty Zimmerman. Together, they crafted striking cover art that adds a rich visual dimension to Killen's musical projects, creating a full sensory experience.

The feature on Cosmonauta Radio beautifully aligns with the exclusive Spotify release of "Singing River Blues." This release date is no coincidence; it falls on W.C. Handy's birthday, highlighting Ben Killen's reverence for the deep traditions of blues music.
