

Go Industries Unveils Durable Mud Guards for Dually Trucks, Boosting Protection and Performance

January 16, 2025

Richardson, TX - January 16, 2025 -
Go Industries Inc., known for its truck and law enforcement vehicle accessories, has expanded its range of mud flaps specifically for dually trucks from popular brands like GMC, Chevrolet, and Ford. This move is part of their effort to offer products that boost both performance and protection for vehicles. Truck owners can learn more by visiting goindustries.com, where information about their comprehensive range of truck accessories is available.

The mud guards for dually trucks from Go Industries are made from durable, non-recycled rubber. They are specifically built to last and shield vehicles from road debris. With this new product line, truck owners can choose from various mud flap sets designed uniquely for dually trucks. Options like the Classic Dually Set, Stainless Steel Dually Set, and Diamond Tread Dually Set ensure that there's a choice for superior coverage and protection.

The CEO of Go Industries, expressed their enthusiasm about these new dually mud guards. "Our team is focused on the needs of truck owners, offering products that provide both protection and style. Our custom dually mud flaps show our dedication to quality and practical solutions for drivers across different fields," they said.

With years of experience in the industry, Go Industries understands the problems truck owners face. Their products are designed with durability and customization in mind. The mud flaps not only guard against mud, rocks, and other debris but also help preserve the paint and overall condition of the vehicle.

Besides mud flaps, Go Industries has a broad range of products tailored for trucks and law enforcement vehicles. Their lineup includes grille guards, bumper replacements, airflow tailgates, headache racks, and steps, along with accessories for major vehicle brands. Their expertise in custom manufacturing enables them to provide solutions that cater to individual customer specifications.

For those interested in law enforcement vehicle accessories, visiting goindustries.com allows easy access to a range of specialized products suited for the sector.

Since 1978, Go Industries has been serving not just individual truck owners but also law enforcement agencies that require specialized equipment. This dual focus distinguishes them in the market, supporting a wide range of clients from private vehicle owners to public service departments.

To complement their new mud flaps line, Go Industries provides resources to help customers make informed decisions. They offer product instructions, a thorough catalog, warranty information, and instructional videos on their website for easy access. Recognized with a Platinum Status from the Specialty Equipment Market Association (SEMA), customers can trust the quality and craftsmanship of their products.

Reflecting on the company's journey and products, a company representative said, "Our expansion to include specialized accessories for dually trucks shows our commitment to meeting our customers' evolving needs. We are excited about the possibilities our mud flaps offer in improving vehicle performance and longevity."

Based in Richardson, Texas, Go Industries shows a dedication to innovation in their field.
