Century Pools Makes a Splash with New Customizable Pool Line from Trusted Contractor

January 13, 2025

Orangevale, CA - January 13, 2025 -
Century Pools, a well-known pool contractor based in Orangevale, California, is excited to introduce a new line of customizable swimming pools, crafted for both homes and businesses. These pools are designed with flexibility in mind, offering different sizes, shapes, and finishes to fit various design needs and space limitations. Some standout features include lap pools, infinity edges, unique depths, and built-in lighting, ensuring the new line is versatile and functional.

With over 60 years in the industry, Century Pools has always been committed to providing quality craftsmanship. This new line maintains that promise, addressing common issues like durability and maintenance by using advanced construction methods. The pools are built to withstand the varied weather conditions typical of Northern California, which is an important factor for potential pool owners to consider.

Safety is a key focus of the new line, featuring slip-resistant surfaces and options for secure fencing. These elements show Century Pools' dedication to creating safe and family-friendly outdoor environments. Additionally, eco-friendly options are available, such as solar heating and energy-efficient pumps, appealing to consumers who are mindful of environmental impacts.

"We are thrilled to launch this new line of customizable pools," says Patrick O'Neal, a representative of Century Pools. "Our goal is to remain a leading pool contractor in Northern California by offering high-quality, innovative, and sustainable pool solutions. We believe this new line achieves exactly that."

Patrick adds that the company provides expert consultations during the planning and installation phases, ensuring a smooth experience for customers. This personalized approach lets clients collaborate closely with Century Pools' experienced team to create a pool that matches their specific needs and lifestyle.
