

TopVPNSoftware.com Picks The Top VPN Software For 2016

January 25, 2016

January 25, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Beaverton, OR ? With dozens of available software programs out there, TopVPNsoftware.com reports on their top choice. There are at least a few dozen options when it comes to setting up a Virtual Private Network (or VPN). When it came to analyzing all of the different tools that promise to make it easy to setup a VPN, there were a few specific things worth looking at:

Compatibility; which types of hardware (computers, phones, tablets) work with the software. Price; some tools have to be paid for every month while others offered a one-time fee. Ease of use; some were easy to use and setup and others were definitely not. Features; does the software provide capabilities that would be used by the average person. Locations; with one software working in only 10 countries, being able to use the software in the most possible locations became an important feature to consider.

When it comes to security, it may be worth it to spend a little more. However, the top choice also happened to be the most reasonable.

The chosen software is called IPVanish VPN. It had the most reasonable price while being easy to install. It also works in the most countries and on the most hardware.
