February 10, 2025 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Sokol Blosser Winery is announcing the reopening of its well-loved tasting room in the beautiful Dundee Hills, situated in Oregon's Willamette Valley. This place is a special spot for both wine lovers and those just visiting. The winery focuses on sustainable farming to produce high-quality wines from organic grapes. Visitors can explore the lush vineyards and enjoy various experiences. To book a wine tasting or reserve a table for the Farm and Forage culinary experience, visit the winery's website.

The tasting room is open from Thursday through Monday, between 10 AM and 4 PM, where guests can enjoy a handpicked selection of wines. It's recommended to make reservations to get a personalized experience. On Fridays, there's a special happy hour from 5 PM to 7 PM, offering a chance to enjoy the unique flavors of Sokol Blosser's wines.

"The reopening of our tasting room allows us to share our passion for winemaking with both new visitors and seasoned wine lovers," said Alex Sokol Blosser, a representative of the winery. "We're excited to invite people back to experience our wines and the beautiful setting in which they are crafted."

Besides wine tasting, Sokol Blosser Winery offers the Farm and Forage Culinary Experience. This is a unique pairing event that combines wines with carefully chosen local dishes, emphasizing the connection between great wine and local food. For those who can't visit in person, the winery provides virtual tastings, letting people enjoy their distinctive flavors from home. To browse a variety of wines or join the Wine Club Membership, visit their online shop.

The winery is also available for private events, making it ideal for celebrations or business gatherings. Located in the Willamette Valley, it offers an attractive venue that enhances any event. Visitors can learn about the vineyard's history and its focus on sustainable practices, gaining a deeper understanding of the winery's devotion to environmental care.

Sokol Blosser Winery's offerings aren't just limited to its tasting room. They have an online wine shop featuring a wide range of wines, such as red, white, rosé, sparkling, and library selections. There's also the option to purchase gift cards and merchandise, with easy shipping options.

"Our mission is to create wines that reflect the beauty and diversity of the Willamette Valley, while staying true to our sustainable roots," Sokol Blosser explained. "We look forward to welcoming visitors to our winery and sharing the fruits of our labor."
