

Cutting Horse Training Online Launches Cutting Edge Personal Coaching Program

February 01, 2016

February 01, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Cutting Horse Training Online, a business in Weatherford, TX, is excited to announce the launch of their brand new Get Coached! service. This personal coaching program has attracted a number of world-class trainers, who offer their expert advice, critiques and counselling using the latest video technology tailored to the individual. Get Coached! gives people the opportunity to fast track their learning and progress in the sport of cutting no matter where they live. Details are available at <http://cuttinghorsetrainingonline.com/get-coached.html>.

Simone Cobb from Cutting Horse Training Online says: "Get Coached! gives people the opportunity to develop relationships with top trainers they don't even know and get invaluable personalized advice and coaching from them so they can take their cutting to the next level. Imagine having a world class trainer give you one-on-one guidance without even leaving home. That is what our program offers, it's revolutionary in the sport of cutting!"

Get Coached! uses cutting edge technology to deliver coaching tailored specifically to each individual. People simply take a video of themselves training at home or competing at a show, and upload it to CHTO. The trainer then critiques the video adding audio, annotations and written advice to the videos that are then sent back to the individual. "They can then watch the video, download it, share it on social media etc. By watching the videos over and over again, they can perfect the skills and overcome the challenges they are working on. They can even watch it in the arena while working their horses. Never before has this coaching opportunity been offered in cutting, people will be amazed with how much faster they can improve," says Simone.

Get Coached! uses technology that olympians have taken advantage of as well as major league baseball teams and professional golfers. "To be successful in sport, you need a coach. There's no getting around that and CHTO has found a way to bring the coaches to everyone in cutting regardless of where you live," she says.

Coaching helps people discover bad habits they don't even know they have, it keeps them accountable, gives them a plan for knowing what to do next, and helps them build relationships with the top performers in the industry," Simone says.

The trainers who have so far signed up to be coaches include Grant Setnicka, Michael Cooper, Kathy Daughn, Lindy Burch, Beau Galyean, Hayden Upton, Aaron Wheatley, Jonathan Rogers, Tarin Rice and Paul Hansma. All are industry leaders in their field. They are excited to be able to share their knowledge and advice with people and look forward to working together with those who sign up for the program.

Get Coached! is a brand new service for CHTO, an online education and training website for the sport of cutting. CHTO features a massive library of more than 350 videos on all aspects of training and caring for cutting horses. Experts include trainers, veterinarians, breeding and nutrition authorities and features specialty content, interviews, blog content, articles and more. Members can access and watch the entire video library wherever they are, 24/7. People can even access the site for free for seven days.
