February 10, 2025 -
Bluewater Yacht Canvas, a well-respected name in the marine canvas and upholstery industry since 1999, is making a big move to Fort Lauderdale. Founded by Kerry Osborne, the company is moving from its original site in Pompano Beach to a larger facility in the lively center of the yachting world. This change marks an important step for the company as it aims to offer more services and improve its capabilities for the boating community.

For over twenty years, Bluewater Yacht Canvas has been known for delivering top-notch marine canvas solutions. They've built a solid reputation with custom work ranging from Bimini tops to sturdy enclosures. With the new location, Bluewater Yacht Canvas plans to uphold its standard of quality and enhance its offerings in a more spacious setting. The new facility is set to increase their ability to serve customers by broadening the range of services and speeding up production.

"The move to Fort Lauderdale is a natural progression for us," said Kerry Osborne, founder of Bluewater Yacht Canvas. "We are excited to bring our expertise closer to the hub of South Florida's boating community. This new location will allow us to better serve our clients and continue to offer high-quality, innovative marine canvas solutions."

The company's services are varied, meeting a wide array of needs within the boating scene. From custom boat covers that shield yachts from the weather to upholstery designs that boost the look of a yacht's interior, Bluewater Yacht Canvas stands out for its excellent design and service. Their work gains recognition not only from individual boat owners but also from several boat manufacturers who admire their design skills and high standards.

By moving to Fort Lauderdale, Bluewater Yacht Canvas will better handle larger projects and work more efficiently. This tactical change is expected to support the company's future growth and advancement.

Customers can look forward to the same high quality and detailed attention in all their projects, along with the added perks of better access and modern facilities.

"With our new location, we are better equipped to meet the demands of our clients while maintaining the high standards we're known for," Osborne added. "We look forward to continuing our relationship with our customers and welcoming new ones as we grow."

The company offers various services, including dinghy covers, motor covers, and mooring covers, all easily accessible online. Customers can find detailed information about their products and even get free quotes, adding to their convenience and engagement. In addition, visitors can explore Bluewater Yacht Canvas's impressive background through their about page, which details their journey and dedication to quality: https://bluewatercanvas.com/about-us/. As they settle into their new space, the company remains committed to excellence and innovation in marine canvas and upholstery services. Their comprehensive range of services, as outlined on their website, demonstrates their capacity to handle a variety of marine needs.

The move highlights Bluewater Yacht Canvas's dedication to providing exceptional service and expanding its role in the industry. It serves as evidence of their growth and strength in the competitive field of marine canvas and upholstery. Their new facility reflects the company's commitment to superior craftsmanship and keeping customers satisfied, ensuring that Bluewater Yacht Canvas remains a trusted name for years to come.
