Oshkosh, WI -- Backyard Organics is opening peoples' eyes to the benefits of organic lawn care. As our culture becomes more aware of our environment and how past maintenance options have affected it, the interest in finding natural lawn care methods continues to rise. People still want green and vibrant lawns, but they don?t want to use the chemicals that could harm the health of their family, pets or ultimately someone else through run-off to the ground water.

Backyard Organics was the first all organic lawn care service in Northeast Wisconsin and also the first Wisconsin organic land care business accredited by NOFA, one of two organizations in the country that accredit organic land care professionals. As such Backyard Organics has become the trusted expert in growing a beautiful, safe and environmentally-friendly lawn.

Backyard Organics was formed with the goal of helping families grow healthy lawns. All clients of the company are given this pledge from owner, Todd Rockweit-.

?We are dedicated to providing you and your family a beautiful lawn using all natural, organic products that are proven safe and effective,? Rockweit said.

Visit backyardorganics.net to find out more about how Backyard Organics can help you grow a beautiful lawn using all natural products. With spring arriving in the north, your lawn may be starting to show signs of life. Unfortunately, that also means weeds won?t be far behind, and we all know how quickly a green lawn can turn into a sea of dandelions. Backyard Organics can help you get rid of those pesky weeds without using a single costly herbicide treatment.

?Weeds are an indicator that the soils are out of balance. My primary goal, with all of our applications, is to create the balance that nature needs to thrive on its own which results in healthy soils and a naturally reduced weed population,? Rockweit said.

This all-natural and patient approach will leave you with a weed--free lawn without using any of the chemicals that could harm the health of your family.

About Backyard Organics: The lawn care company was started with the mission of creating a family-safe and environmentally-friendly lawn for everyone. It remains focused on organic lawn care and using nature to nurture your lawn.
