April 15, 2025 -
The Law Offices of James E. Kee & Associates has expanded its personal injury legal services to serve clients in Gwinnett and Fulton Counties. With its base in Atlanta, James E. Kee & Associates has been in the legal field for over 25 years, dealing with cases such as criminal law, traffic violations, and personal injury. This growth highlights the firm's dedication to offering reliable legal representation to more individuals throughout Georgia.

The firm focuses on personal injury cases and offers a wide range of services for clients seeking compensation for accident-related injuries. From car accidents to more severe incidents, the firm uses its extensive experience to tackle the often tricky personal injury claims. For more information on their comprehensive personal injury services and approach, visit the James E. Kee & Associates official website. They handle complex cases like wrongful death, ensuring each client gets the focused attention they require.

James E. Kee, the firm's founder, expressed excitement about the expanded services. "We understand the complexities and challenges faced by those who have suffered in accidents," Kee stated. "Our goal is to guide them through the legal process to secure fair compensation, allowing them to focus on healing and moving forward."

James E. Kee & Associates is known not just for its legal skills but also for its commitment to client care. They offer free initial consultations so potential clients can understand their legal options without paying upfront. This approach reflects the firm's mission to make legal representation affordable, with fixed fees and no hidden costs.

A recent client, speaking about their experience as highlighted in the James E. Kee Testimonials page, complimented the firm for its professionalism, meticulous attention to detail, and genuine care. These testimonials reflect the firm's dedication to its clients and the outcomes they achieve in court.

Located conveniently in Midtown Atlanta, the firm is accessible to local residents and those from nearby counties. The office has hours on Saturdays, making it easier for people with busy weekday schedules. Their broad range of services and flexible availability make James E. Kee & Associates a popular choice for those needing legal help in personal injury cases.

James E. Kee emphasized, "In expanding our services, we are committed to maintaining the high standards of legal defense and personal attention that our clients have come to expect. Our team is ready to take on more cases and make a difference in the lives of more individuals and families."

In addition to personal injury, the firm offers robust defense for traffic-related cases, including DUIs and other auto violations. For details on how they can assist with traffic law matters, including defense against DUI charges, visit the firm's dedicated section on Traffic Law. Their expertise in both traffic and personal injury law allows them to effectively assist clients with cases that include aspects of both areas.
