Alpha Therapeutics LLC, a well-known name in the CBD industry, has launched a new line of products aimed at providing better solutions for pain relief and anxiety. This expansion features favorites like Alpha CBD oil and the 2,000 mg CBD pain stick, offering choices for those looking for natural health benefits.

All of the company's products are doctor-formulated to help with common issues like pain and anxiety. Alpha CBD oil is available in Extra Strength and Regular Strength, tailored to different needs without lowering quality. The Extra Strength Oil is priced at $125.00, and the Regular Strength Oil is $89.00. Manufactured in Scottsdale, AZ, these products come with free shipping and a full money-back guarantee.

"We focus on giving our customers reliable, doctor-formulated solutions for their wellness needs," said Geoff Dada, a company representative. "Alpha CBD oil is a testament to our ongoing commitment to quality, backed by advanced formulation methods."

Another standout product is the 2,000 mg CBD pain stick, designed specifically for relieving joint and muscle pain. Each pain stick includes 2,000 mg of CBD along with CBG to boost its effectiveness. Priced at $65.00, it is popular for its quick absorption and targeted pain relief. This topical product is made with plant-based ingredients, including broad-spectrum CBD, cannabis flavonoids, coconut, and lanolin from wool.

The company uses the CO2 method for its formulations, maintaining the natural attributes of the plant. The inclusion of broad-spectrum CBD, terpenes, and flavonoids is key to managing pain and inflammation.

"We focus on using ingredients that honor the natural qualities of the CBD plant, making sure our customers experience what is often referred to as the 'entourage effect,'" added Dada. "This meticulous planning and production make our products stand out."

Moreover, Alpha Therapeutics LLC offers bundle deals, enabling consumers to buy combinations like Extra Strength CBD & Healing Balm and Extra Strength CBD & Pain Stick. These bundles are made to help consumers save while offering a complete approach to wellness. Prices for these bundles aren't listed directly, but the deals provide a practical option for those looking to stock up on effective products.

The Calm Sleep product is another addition to Alpha Therapeutics LLC's varied product line. Priced at $59.00, this sleep aid is designed to promote restful sleep, ensuring users wake up feeling refreshed without the typical grogginess often associated with other sleep aids.

The company stands by transparency with clear product policies, including privacy, refund, and shipping guidelines. They emphasize the importance of consulting with healthcare professionals when exploring CBD options.
