January 27, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Bakersfield Music Hall of Fame in Bakersfield, CA, has been officially opened by founders Kyle Carter and his recording artist wife, Kimberly McAbee-Carter. This is an intimate performance hall venue for various events, local music recognition and membership, and a recording studio and services. Conference and office spaces are also available.

Kim Carter says: "Our mission as the Founders and Advisory Board of The Bakersfield Music Hall of Fame is to create a self-sustaining and ongoing organization with a performing arts theater and two professional recording studios. It is our goal to provide a fun, exciting and comfortable environment for our members that will enrich and encourage appreciation for live performance of music and theater. We hope to inspire, promote and help grow most genres of musical expression within our facility."

The Carters encourage everybody to look into subscribing to the Bakersfield Music Hall of Fame membership option. Being a member gives people voting rights, access to the online directory, advertising and networking opportunities, advance notice of upcoming shows, music hall facility rental, discounts on recording studios, and discounts on gift shop memorabilia. Most importantly, members have an opportunity to be a part of the amazing contribution the music hall is making to the community.

"We will strive to be an entry point into the music industry for the new generation of artists within our community," says Kyle Carter. "We will seek to acknowledge, honor and promote the past, present and future professional achievements of our rich local music community in all genres of music, while employing courtesy, dignity and respect in every endeavor."

People can also sign up to Limited Charter membership to the Bakersfield Music Hall of Fame. This gives them the same benefits as regular members, as well as being able to access advanced ticket sales and being part of the Charter Member Wall. This is a two year membership, as opposed to the one year membership offered in the standard package.

Those who are interested are encouraged to contact the Bakersfield Music Hall of Fame or visit them to see what the hype is all about.
