AgilePM Online Certification Training Launched by agileKRC in London

February 25, 2025

LONDON, UK - February 25, 2025 - agileKRC, a prominent provider of project management education, has unveiled its updated AgilePM online certification training, now aligned with the latest AgilePM v3. Announced in London, this enhancement is designed to meet the evolving demands of agile methodologies and project management practices. The updated training reflects a shift towards a more human-centred approach, providing agileKRC clients with the necessary skills to adapt to modern project environments. By incorporating fresh ideas, AgilePM v3 embodies the spirit of continual improvement, making it a valuable resource for professionals seeking to enhance their project management capabilities.

Jay Gao, Operations Manager at agileKRC, remarked on the significance of this update, saying, "AgilePM v3 is set to change the landscape of project management by promoting the delivery of real business value over mere product outputs. This training supports professionals in transitioning from traditional project roles to agile leadership positions." This strategic change emphasises the importance of value creation and leadership in agile practices, reflecting a growing recognition of AgilePM certification as a benchmark of expertise in the field. As organisations increasingly seek qualified agile professionals, this updated training is poised to meet the rising demand in the industry.

Interested individuals can explore the updated AgilePM certification training courses available at agileKRC's website. This programme is designed to assist professionals in integrating SCRUM practices seamlessly into their workflows and managing multiple project teams effectively. Participants will benefit from improved risk management strategies, gaining skills to better anticipate and address potential project challenges. The course is offered in a flexible, self-paced online format, accessible on various devices, allowing learners to progress at their own pace while ensuring a comprehensive understanding of the material. This approach caters to the diverse needs of modern professionals.

Jay Gao further highlighted the broader impact of AgilePM v3, stating, "The new version is not just an update; it represents a transformation in how project management is approached. By focusing on a human-centred methodology, we aim to encourage innovation and flexibility across different sectors." As industries continue to adopt agile frameworks, this training provides essential tools and strategies to navigate the complexities of contemporary project environments. Interested parties can discover additional training options at agileKRC's Agile training courses page, where a variety of agile courses are available to meet diverse professional requirements.

The introduction of AgilePM v3 is anticipated to have significant implications for the project management field. By emphasising value delivery and agile leadership, this new version aligns with a global shift towards more adaptive and responsive business practices. As organisations increasingly recognise the advantages of agile methodologies, the demand for AgilePM-certified professionals is expected to grow, solidifying its status as a leading certification in project management. This development is likely to drive innovation and efficiency across various sectors, creating new opportunities for professionals equipped with these advanced skills.
