

Best New Free Music Download Sites Revealed

January 27, 2016

January 27, 2016 -
Heartbeatmuzic, a business in Portharcourt, Rivers State, Nigeria, has revealed new information on the best free music download sites. The company aims to help budding musicians to promote their music throughout the world and link them to these sites to enable them to have a greater reach. They encourage everyone to check out the list.

Chris Obaino from Heartbeatmuzic says: "We have released a list of the best free music download sites and you can promote your music here! This is a chance for you to get known and to get your music heard. Hopefully, it will actually lead up to your big break, offering you global stardom. It has been done before, so you may just be the person for whom it gets done again."

The best free music downloads page currently features various different styles and genres of music. People are encouraged to include their own music as well. They can either add soundtracks or sound files on their own, or they can upload a music video if they have already made one. It is a great place for people to get to know music from around the world and to be influenced by the sounds of the different rhythms.

In a sense, the new website replaces the record stores of years gone by. As the world is now digital, people don't visit record stores anymore, where they could pour over albums and discuss the credits that were listed on them. People no longer save up their money in eager anticipation for the next album release. While this nostalgia may be missed by many, Heartbeatmuzic feels that it is time to move ahead with the times and this is what their free music downloads site aims to achieve.

"Music has to be shared in order to be heard," adds Chris Obaino. "If it isn't heard, it might as well not have been made. We want to give artists that platform to be heard, the virtual equivalent of a record store, in other words. And we also encourage people to like us on Facebook page. This will ensure they remain up to date with any new album launches."
