March 06, 2025 -
Opening Roof Specialists has announced a new service that adds a fresh angle to their existing product lineup. Known for turning outdoor areas into functional and stylish living spaces, they've expanded their offerings to include diverse pergola designs. This new service is available for both residential and commercial clients across the Greater Sydney area.

The company now offers a selection of pergolas developed to handle the challenging Australian climate. These designs reflect a focus on both durability and appearance, crafted with carefully chosen materials. Clients can count on the same high standards that have characterized Opening Roof Specialists' services, especially their leading product, the Eclipse Opening Roof. This system boasts advanced features such as a 170° rotation and over 60 color options, showcasing the possibilities for customization in open roof design. A representative of Opening Roof Specialists, shared, "We are thrilled to expand our offerings with new pergola designs. Our mission has always been to deliver solutions that meet the needs of our clients and also enhance the look and worth of their properties. This service expansion is an extension of our dedication to providing top-tier product quality and customer service."

The company handles every phase of a project, from the first design steps and council approval to fabrication and installation. Clients benefit from a full consultation process, including free on-site design sessions, concept drawings, and project proposals. This thorough approach allows them to create unique outdoor entertainment areas within a client's budget and style preferences.

In terms of commercial services, Opening Roof Specialists assists architects and builders by offering expert advice and practical solutions for large-scale projects. They aim to be a reliable partner in bringing architectural visions to life, providing precision and professionalism in meeting specific requirements.

The company representative commented on the service enhancements: "With our new pergola designs, we're able to cater to a broader range of customer needs and project demands. Our integrated approach means we're providing more than a product; we offer a comprehensive service that empowers our clients and beautifies their outdoor spaces."
