A recent five-star review from a patient named Nathan highlights the impact Muse Treatment has on the lives of those who walk through its doors.

?There is so much good things to say about this place. I have been here more than once; the staff and house managers are amazing. Caseworkers, and therapists, all alike?they give you a homey feeling and make sure you feel welcome. All they ask of you is to put in the work for yourself to be a better person. If you have any questions or anything you want to talk about, they are more than happy to sit with you one-on-one, discuss the issues, and work on a solution. I can't say enough about how amazing this place is. If you need help, this is the place for you.?

Muse Treatment is known for its evidence-based therapies and patient-centered approach, which focuses on treating the whole person.
