

Philadelphia Plastic Surgeon Dr. R. Brannon Claytor Wins Best Scientific Presentation from The Aesthetic Society

March 19, 2025

PHILADELPHIA - March 19, 2025 -

Philadelphia, PA?Dr. R. Brannon Claytor, a double board-certified plastic surgeon in Philadelphia and facial rejuvenation expert, has been honored by The Aesthetic Society with the prestigious Tiffany Award for Best Scientific Presentation. His presentation, Nanofat Rescue following Aggressive CO2 Treatments and Microneedling for Peri Oral Rhytids, detailed his innovative facial rejuvenation treatment to enhance skin regeneration and reduce lines around the mouth. It was recognized as the top scientific presentation at The Aesthetic Meeting 2024 in Vancouver.

?I am truly honored to receive the Tiffany Award for Best Scientific Presentation,? said Dr. Claytor. ?I have spent years researching how I can improve patient outcomes, and to be able to present my research and techniques at The Aesthetic Meeting was itself an honor. I am grateful to contribute to the ongoing evolution of facial aesthetics and to be acknowledged by my esteemed colleagues.?

The Aesthetic Society?s Tiffany Award is given annually to the individual who delivers the most outstanding scholarly work at the Society?s Annual Scientific Meeting, and it is the highest honor the organization bestows on a plastic surgeon for a scientific presentation. The Tiffany Award reflects The Aesthetic Society?s commitment to advancing the art and science of aesthetic plastic surgery through the support of its members? outstanding research.

Dr. Claytor?s award-winning presentation showcased his novel facial rejuvenation technique that leverages CO2 laser resurfacing to remove damaged skin and stimulate collagen production, microneedling to promote cell regeneration and elastin formation, and nanofat grafting to improve skin texture and tone while promoting faster healing. The procedure, which Dr. Claytor refers to as ?LaMiNa? at his Philadelphia plastic surgery practice, has shown remarkable success in reducing perioral wrinkles and rejuvenating the face with minimal downtime.

Dr. Claytor explained, ?Traditionally, lines around the mouth are reduced with dermal fillers, which add physical volume to fill in the lines. These effects are short-lived and may not appear natural in some patients. LaMiNa treatment effectively restores the lost collagen that allowed these lines to form in the first place. This technique achieves more natural-looking and longer-lasting results while also improving skin quality and resilience.?

Dr. Claytor will be officially presented with the Tiffany Award at The Aesthetic Meet 2025 in Austin, Texas.

In addition to accepting this distinguished honor, Dr. Claytor has also been invited to serve as a panelist at The Aesthetic Meet, discussing the latest innovations in abdominoplasty. Dr. Claytor will present on high-definition abdominoplasty, a refined tummy tuck approach designed to enhance muscle definition and sculpt key areas of the midsection.

?I?m excited to be part of this important discussion on advancing abdominoplasty techniques,? said Dr. Claytor. ?High-definition techniques allow us to precisely contour the abdominal area, defining features like the rectus abdominis or ?six-pack? muscles, obliques, and waistline to achieve a more sculpted look and athletic physique for both men and women. I look forward to sharing insights on effective surgical techniques, patient selection, and strategies for optimizing long-term outcomes.?

The Aesthetic Meet is a premier event dedicated to advancing the field of aesthetic surgery through education, innovation, and collaboration. Dr. Claytor will also instruct the course on Deep Plane Facelift, a superior facelift technique he is renowned for, at the event. His inclusion as a panelist and instructor at the Meet further solidifies his reputation as a leader in body contouring and facial plastic surgery innovation.
