Atlanta's Premier Personal Injury Lawyer, The Weinstein Firm, Scores Big for Cancer Research with Annual Fundraiser

March 28, 2025

ATLANTA, GA - March 28, 2025 -
The Weinstein Firm recently hosted its 10th annual March Madness fundraiser, keeping up a tradition that unites leaders in personal injury law across the Atlanta area. This event, called the "$10K for 10 Years March Madness" fundraiser, supports cancer research through the V Foundation, an organization committed to advancing research at top cancer centers nationwide.

Cancer research is profoundly important to one of the firm's founding attorneys, Harris Weinstein. Back in 2003, he faced a personal challenge when he was diagnosed with Ewing's Sarcoma, a rare type of cancer. At the time, Weinstein had just embarked on a new chapter in Manhattan, but his diagnosis dramatically altered his life. The road to recovery was tough, but he prevailed thanks to the diligent team at Cornell-Weill and the thorough treatment plan at Sloan Kettering, where he underwent chemotherapy and radiation.

Reflecting on what he went through, Weinstein said, "The experience taught me to value the fragility and preciousness of life. Every follow-up visit I make to the city, now every two years, is a mix of apprehension and gratitude. I strive to provide the same kind of support and care to my clients that I received during my challenging times."

The Weinstein Firm provides a range of legal services with expertise in handling cases related to car accidents, personal injuries, motorcycle accidents, and truck accidents. For those affected by car accidents, they assist in filing claims against the driver's insurance and, if needed, file lawsuits against the driver to prove fault and seek compensation for various damages. Similarly, the firm is dedicated to representing clients in personal injury cases caused by others' negligence, helping secure compensation for damages. Their comprehensive legal representation extends to motorcycle accident victims, ensuring they receive justice and the financial support needed for their recovery. In cases of truck accidents, The Weinstein Firm handles complex claims involving multiple parties.

Through this annual event, The Weinstein Firm can support the V Foundation by channeling attention and resources toward groundbreaking research that has the potential to save lives. The V Foundation is recognized for its strict selection process in funding projects at some of the country's most esteemed cancer centers.

This year's event is particularly meaningful for Weinstein, as he has lost several family members and friends to cancer since his diagnosis. These losses have deepened his empathy and fortified his determination to support cancer research through various actions and initiatives.

Sean P. Smith, CEO of The Weinstein Firm, remarked, "We are proud to support the V Foundation and its mission to fund cutting-edge cancer research. Our event not only promotes the spirit of March Madness but also serves a greater purpose. We hope to continue making a significant impact in cancer research funding."

Weinstein reflects on the support he received during his own treatment and aims to bring that same compassion to those affected by cancer. He has kept his post-cancer hairstyle as a reminder of his recovery journey and as a tribute to the battles he's fought and the life he continues to cherish.

The Weinstein Firm personal injury lawyer team is devoted to serving the legal community and supporting charitable endeavors like cancer research. By participating in events like March Madness, they honor those fighting cancer and strive for a future where cancer is no longer a threat.

By combining the excitement of basketball with the meaningful goal of funding cancer research, the March Madness fundraiser has become a key event for The Weinstein Firm and its supporters. The collective effort seeks to advance crucial research, bringing hope to individuals and families battling cancer.

These fundraisers empower The Weinstein Firm to uphold its mission of advocacy both in the courtroom and through charitable efforts. The firm remains dedicated to supporting cancer research and organizations like the V Foundation, which aims to achieve Victory Over Cancer®. Every dollar raised goes towards important projects that might one day lead to breakthroughs in cancer treatments and better outcomes for patients.
