Millions of women suffer in silence on a topic that is rarely addressed. Love Alchemy, a business in Orange Park, FL, wants to draw attention to the unspoken challenges women face as estrogen levels decline. National statistics reflect that 85% of women over the age of 41 suffer from vaginal dryness as a direct result of estrogen levels falling. Sadly, age isn't the only factor.

Most women don't know, there are a variety of medications and medical conditions that cause low estrogen levels. The most common is low dose estrogen birth control pills - which is a double whammy. Not only does it drive your estrogen levels low, it drives your progesterone levels high, which simulates a pregnancy - which could turn off desire, decreases testosterone, and also decrease your normal circulating estrogen level which is the leading cause of vaginal atrophy.

It's no surprise when studies now show, almost 4 out of every 10 pre-menopausal women as early as their 20's are affected by vaginal atrophy. Some of the symptoms of this include burning while peeing, slight bleeding after sexual intercourse, pain during sex, slight vaginal discharge and burning or itchiness inside the vagina. Unfortunately, research has also shown that the existing products on the market are unreliable.

Dr. Weiss was an organic chemist before going to medical school, so while most people look at the ingredients on packaging and have no idea what they are looking at, Dr. Weiss says, "I not only can pronounce them, but I know what they can do to you."

Water based lubricants are a popular product, for instance. However, as the skin absorbs them immediately, they actually evaporate too quickly to make a difference. Meanwhile, other lubricants are filled with a range of chemicals, which leave the vaginal canal even dryer than before. This increases the chance of contracting a sexually transmitted disease and of developing fungus.

This prompted Dr. Eric Weiss and his wife Christine, a dietitian, to develop the Love Lotion, which is quickly becoming known as the best all natural personal lubricant for women.

Dr. Weiss says, "I wanted to create a product that was both safe and effective. Together with my wife, we developed a completely natural lubricant that addresses the hormonal challenges that are common in women over 40."

Dr. Weiss explained why he developed the natural personal lubricant: "My wife and I have enjoyed a happy, healthy sex life for many years. Unfortunately, Christine started suffering from dry vaginal walls. As a doctor, I wanted to solve this issue by coming up with a lubricant that was both effective and safe."

Love Lotion was developed to address all of these issues, which is why it is quickly becoming known as the world's safest personal lubricant for vaginal dryness. Dr. Weiss explains: "Women are clearly doing harm to themselves by using the vast majority of what's out there on the shelves and following the advice of commercials or friends. If you can't pronounce it, you probably should not put it in or on your body."
