

Lee & James Real Estate Photography Launches Mother's Day Promotion with Free Trial for New Clients

April 04, 2025

PORTLAND, OR - April 04, 2025 -

Lee & James Real Estate Photography is celebrating the spirit of Mother?s Day with a special limited-time offer available through May 12th. In honor of the season, new clients can take advantage of a complimentary trial featuring 32 high-dynamic-range photos?completely free of charge. This exclusive offer provides real estate professionals with the opportunity to elevate their property listings with professional photography at no cost, all while discovering the value and quality that Lee & James is known for.

The promotion is thoughtfully timed to align with the spring real estate season and the lead-up to Mother?s Day?a period that often sees increased home buying activity as families prepare for the summer. For agents looking to make a strong impression on the market, this limited-time trial gives them the tools to showcase listings in the best possible light, attract more buyers, and stand out in a competitive landscape.

Michael Larrabee, co-owner of Lee & James, shared, ?Spring is an ideal time to list and promote homes, and with Mother?s Day around the corner, we wanted to offer something meaningful to agents who are working hard to support families in transition. Our free trial gives agents a no-risk way to experience the power of professional photography and how it can help move a property quickly.?

Based in Portland, with an additional location in Atlanta, Lee & James Real Estate Photography has built a reputation for quality, efficiency, and professionalism. Their experienced team offers a wide range of real estate solutions including listing photography, videography, headshots, home cleaning, and staging?services designed to help agents present each property at its full potential.

One of the signature advantages of working with Lee & James is their commitment to same-day delivery. Real estate professionals benefit from a quick turnaround without sacrificing quality, making it easier to keep up with fast-moving market demands. With cutting-edge equipment and an expert eye for lighting, composition, and detail, the team captures impactful visuals that highlight a property?s best features.

In addition to listing photography, the company also offers professional headshots?an important tool for agents looking to build trust and present a polished personal brand. As Larrabee notes, ?In today?s market, buyers are looking for more than a home?they?re also looking for a reliable, confident agent. A high-quality headshot can help realtors make a strong first impression and reflect the professionalism they bring to their work.?

Lee & James further supports agents with home cleaning and staging services, ensuring properties are presented in pristine condition before the camera ever clicks. Their team thoughtfully prepares each home to maximize visual appeal, guiding staging choices that help generate interest and improve listing performance.

This limited-time offer is part of the company?s ongoing commitment to building relationships with new clients and making premium real estate services more accessible. Their straightforward pricing, personalized service, and industry-trusted results have made them a go-to choice for agents at firms like EXP Realty, Next Home Realty Connection, and Coldwell Banker Bain.

The Mother?s Day promotion is available through Sunday, May 12th. New clients can claim their free 32-photo trial by visiting the Lee & James website and reaching out through the contact form. The booking process is simple and efficient, with quick delivery and no commitment required.

To learn more and reserve a free trial before the deadline, visit Lee & James Real Estate Photography online today and discover how they?re helping agents create beautiful, compelling listings?just in time for spring.
