Professor Greg Watson Launches Coveted Marketing Course MKT111 for Aspiring Marketers and Small Business Owners

April 07, 2025

TUCSON, AZ - April 07, 2025 -
Dr. Greg Watson has reintroduced his popular course, MKT111: Principles of Marketing, aimed at helping both students and small business owners grow their marketing skills. This course offers key marketing knowledge, blending both theory and practical skills to meet the varying needs of participants, whether for academic growth or real-world business applications.

The MKT111 course is structured around four main components. It helps learners create effective brand messages and offers insights into key marketing principles. Practical application of marketing theories is strongly emphasized, ensuring participants can connect what they learn to real situations. The course also encourages strategic thinking, preparing participants to develop solid plans that meet market needs.

Dr. Greg Watson highlighted the hands-on approach of the course by stating, "Our objective with MKT111 is to create a dynamic learning environment where theory meets practice. Participants can expect to walk away with actionable insights that take their understanding of marketing to the next level. Whether you're a student or a small business owner, the aim is to empower you with essential strategies and skills." The course is designed to bridge the gap between classroom knowledge and real-world application, inviting participants from different backgrounds. This diversity enriches the experience because learners encounter various perspectives and methods. The curriculum integrates real-world examples, case studies, and interactive lessons, offering a detailed education experience.

The enrollment window for MKT111 is now open. Due to high demand and limited spots, prospective students and business owners are advised to secure their places quickly. Courses begin every eight to ten weeks, and this regular scheduling keeps it accessible to a wide range of learners.

Participants can access detailed course information and sign-up processes on Professor Watson's website at professorwatson.com.
