January 28, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Split Social Review was released recently by mytrustedreview.com for informing the readers the details and working capabilities of this plug-in. Created by the trio of Alex Costan, Stephen Gilbert and Greg Kononenko, the plug-in is up and ready to be launched on 29th January 2016.

As the much awaited social media marketing plug-in 'Split Social' gets ready to be launched this month, the experts from mytrustedreview.com have released the pre-launch product review of it in order to give the users glimpses of what this plug-in is all about and what they can expect to achieve from it. The brainchild of Stephen Gilbert, Alex Costan and Greg Kononenko, 'Split Social' is the latest plug-in that enables the marketers to run viral social contests in minutes.

Informing about the plug-in, the officials from the review website said that 'Split Social' works on a simple yet extremely effective manner of generating viral traffic for the marketers, thereby, saving them the pain of spending huge sums of money to get the paid traffic. 'Split social' is software that allows people to harness viral traffic from facebook by putting together high quality contests,' they said.

In their review, the website experts have mentioned that the plug-in puts together contests and then split tests the headline and images to ensure that the marketer gets the best combination which can keep the viral traffic coming in for longer periods. 'With this software, a user can put 10 different titles and later review which one converts the best. This can be done on facebook timeline, groups, or fan pages,' the review reads.

The product, which is priced at $47/month and $97/lifetime (which will be changed later to $147), was creating buzz among the marketers due to its expected effectiveness. While releasing the review on their website, mytrustedreview.com has also offered several bonuses for people who decide to buy this plug-in.

Mytrustedreview.com has been working in the product reviews niche for quite a long time and has been providing useful information and expertly written product reviews in detail for the readers. With the new plug-in, split social, about to be launched, the website has released its review so that people can understand the product, its capabilities, prices etc and can decide on whether this suits their requirements or not.
