April 16, 2025

Irvine, California - April 16, 2025 -
Atticus Injury Law recently secured a $2.7 million settlement for a client who was severely injured in a slip-and-fall accident in a commercial parking lot. This successful negotiation was accomplished without the need for a trial, highlighting the firm's ability to hold different parties responsible. The parties involved included a general contractor, a subcontractor, and the property owner. This settlement reinforces the firm's status as a dependable personal injury attorney in Irvine, CA.

The incident occurred as the client was leaving work, and unfortunately, due to poor maintenance, she slipped and fell in the parking lot. The lot was in disrepair and was even scheduled for demolition for an upcoming apartment complex. However, no safety measures were put in place to prevent accidents. This negligence led to the client suffering serious hip and spinal injuries, which required surgery and left her with a permanent disability and significant challenges in her everyday life.

"This wasn't just an accident. It was a preventable hazard ignored by multiple parties," explained lead attorney Atticus Wegman, who founded Atticus Injury Law. "We're proud to have held them accountable and secured the resources our client needs to move forward with dignity and support."

This case sheds light on the dangers that come with neglecting property maintenance, posing risks not only to employees but also to the public.
