April 28, 2025 -
Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C., a well-known personal injury law firm based in Columbus, Georgia, is expanding its legal services to better support accident victims. Known for their dedication to helping injured people, the firm is now providing a wider range of services around the clock, offering free consultations for potential clients.

The team at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. is skilled in managing a variety of cases, including motor vehicle accidents, personal injuries, chemical lawsuits, and cases involving dangerous products and drugs. Clients can expect expert help from seasoned professionals committed to securing fair compensation for their injuries and losses.

Handling motor vehicle accidents is a big part of what the firm does. They manage various incidents, such as car accidents, 18-wheeler collisions, motorcycle crashes, and DUI-related accidents. The attorneys work closely with each case to simplify the legal process and negotiate effectively with insurance companies to ensure that clients receive just outcomes.

Beyond vehicle accidents, the firm also deals with personal injury cases like medical malpractice, wrongful death, and premises liability. Their attorneys focus on establishing negligence to secure funds that cover medical costs, lost earnings, and other injury-related expenses.

Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. also deals specifically with chemical lawsuits, representing those affected by harmful chemicals. This includes cases involving Camp Lejeune Toxic Water and Paraquat Poisoning. The firm helps clients understand their rights and pursue claims for damages from chemical exposure.

Furthermore, they handle cases involving dangerous drugs or faulty products, working to hold those at fault accountable. The goal is to ensure clients receive compensation for the harm they've suffered due to negligence.

The law firm isn't just about legal work; they are deeply involved in the community. They support local efforts like the Boys & Girls Club of Georgia and sponsor events such as the 2024 Savannah St. Patrick's Day Parade. They even offer a $5,000 legal scholarship to encourage future legal professionals.

Attorney Ken Nugent, a key player in the legal community, has been pivotal in building the firm's solid reputation. His motto, "One Call, That's All," shows the firm's commitment to being client-focused, with easily accessible and prompt service. With nine offices throughout Georgia, as mentioned on the firm's website, they ensure that legal help is accessible to those who need it most.

Chris Dietz, a representative from Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C., explains, "Our aim is to provide thorough legal support to anyone in need, making sure they get the care and compensation they deserve. We treat our clients like family and pride ourselves on serving the community."

The firm has earned positive feedback from clients who appreciate their dedication. With their "Zero Fee Guarantee," clients do not pay legal fees unless a positive result is obtained, reinforcing their commitment to justice and client trust.

For more details, potential clients can visit the Columbus office page on the firm's website, which offers information about services, client stories, and how to schedule consultations.

Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. maintains an active presence on social media like Facebook and Twitter, where they share news and updates about their community involvement and services. They continue their promise of devoted service and engagement, making a difference for people across Georgia.
