February 02, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

A Portland, OR job recruitment agency is proud to announce that they have improved on their candidate selection process. As they have the reputation of being one of the best in Portland, OR, they want to do all they can to continue to deserve this reputation. They believe that it is vital that employment agencies like themselves have a rigorous selection process in place so that they can meet their mission of only putting the best people forward for a job. Jenny McCallum of Express Employment Professionals in Portland says: "Our goal is to make sure that we put forward a candidate for a position that would basically be able to start straight away. This is why we fully check everybody. We now verify their information, interview them, evaluate their skills and check their references. This way, when we put someone forward for a position, we know that they are right for it." Express Employment Professionals has a number of jobs in the Portland, OR area on their books at present, and they do encourage any interested candidates to come forward if they believe they are suitable for those roles. For the temp agency Portland, OR, is a fantastic place to work, and they are highly committed to improving the community as a whole. This is why they have put the candidate selection processes in place, as they believe this will help improve the economy and community as a whole. Those who have worked with this popular staffing agency in Portland, OR, have been wholly positive about their experiences. "I saw a job listed on the Express website and decided to apply for it," says Kevin K. "I had to come in to go through a pretty rigorous registration process. I understand why that was necessary though, as they clearly want to make sure that you are put forward for the right job. This is why I am very happy that they actually suggested a completely different job to me, one that I ended up getting and am still with now. Well done." Anyone seeking employment in the Portland, OR region is encouraged to contact the agency as soon as possible. ###
