April 29, 2025

MARIETTA, GA - April 29, 2025 -
Marietta, GA ? K L Contractor Plumbing Inc., a local plumbing company in Marietta known for dependable and professional service, continues to stand behind its promise to serve the people of Marietta and Metro Atlanta with care, honesty, and excellence. Owned and operated by Konstantin Lozovyi, the company has become a trusted name in homes and businesses across the area by showing up on time, doing the work right, and treating customers like neighbors.

In recent months, K L Contractor Plumbing Inc. has received several new five-star reviews from satisfied customers across Marietta. These reviews, found on platforms like Google and Yelp, speak to the company?s steady dedication to high-quality work and respectful communication.

One customer wrote, ?Konstantin and his team were professional from the moment they arrived. They explained the problem clearly, fixed it fast, and left the space clean. I couldn?t be happier.? Another shared, ?I?ve had other plumbers before, but none like K L Plumbing. They care, they listen, and they treat you like a person. I?ll be calling them again if I ever need help.?

These reviews are not just ratings. They reflect real experiences from real people. Each job is a chance for the company to prove its values in action: respect, reliability, and responsibility. Whether it?s a clogged drain, a leaking pipe, or a full system replacement, the team brings the same level of attention and care.

Owner Konstantin Lozovyi believes that being part of a community means more than working in it. It means caring for it, showing up when needed, and building trust one job at a time.

?We take every call seriously,? said Lozovyi. ?People in Marietta invite us into their homes, and we don?t take that lightly. We make sure to listen first, explain everything clearly, and do the job the right way. That?s how we earn trust, and that?s how we keep it.?

The company doesn?t rely on advertising gimmicks or quick sales. Instead, it focuses on doing solid work, building relationships, and letting satisfied customers do the talking. The latest reviews are a reflection of that steady, honest approach. They show how much the community appreciates not just the plumbing, but the people doing the work.

Lozovyi added, ?We don?t just fix problems. We build peace of mind. That?s the part people remember.?

For K L Contractor Plumbing Inc., Marietta is more than a service area. It?s home. The team lives here, shops here, and sends their kids to school here. That local connection gives the work deeper meaning. It?s not about volume or profits?it?s about doing right by your neighbors and being proud of the name on the van.

The company?s commitment to the area is also seen in how it supports other small businesses, offers honest guidance to customers, and takes time to educate homeowners on how to prevent future problems. It?s a long-term view, rooted in care and consistency.

?We want to be the first call people make when something goes wrong, not just because we can fix it, but because they know we?ll treat them right,? said Lozovyi.

As the company continues to grow, it stays grounded in the same principles it started with: show up, tell the truth, and do the job well. That approach has earned them praise, repeat customers, and a place of trust in the community.

New and returning customers are encouraged to read the latest reviews, ask questions, and reach out any time plumbing help is needed. K L Contractor Plumbing Inc. remains available for residential and commercial service calls across Marietta and Metro Atlanta, with a team ready to respond quickly and handle jobs of any size.
