April 29, 2025 -
Bentonville, AR ? Parenti-Morris Eyecare, a long-established provider of comprehensive vision care for the Bentonville and Rogers communities, is now offering Nuance Audio Glasses as part of its curated eyewear selection. The collection combines timeless frame designs with advanced audio technology, enabling users to take calls, stream music and interact with voice assistants?hands-free and without earbuds.

The addition of Nuance Audio Glasses reinforces Parenti-Morris Eyecare?s ongoing commitment to bringing forward-thinking solutions to its patients, without compromising on style or optical precision.

?Nuance Audio Glasses represent a shift in how we think about wearable tech,? said Dr. Christopher Morris, co-founder of Parenti-Morris Eyecare. ?This is a product that merges aesthetics with function. It?s perfect for anyone who wants a hands-free way to stay connected while maintaining their sense of style. We are excited to bring this technology to our patients here in Bentonville and Rogers.?

The Nuance Audio collection integrates Bluetooth-enabled speakers directly into the arms of the frames. Unlike traditional headphones or earbuds, the open-ear speaker design allows wearers to maintain environmental awareness- an advantage for users commuting in busy city environments or walking outdoors. The glasses also support voice assistants, allowing users to control their device or get information without taking out their phones.

Nuance Audio frames are available in their two iconic shiny black and burgundy colors, with a choice of square or panthos designs, making them suitable for a range of personal styles. The frames can be customized with prescription lenses, including progressive lenses, blue light filters, and UV protection options. Non-prescription options are also available for users who simply want the technology for its connectivity and lifestyle benefits.

Parenti-Morris Eyecare has served the Bentonville and Rogers communities with a blend of medical expertise and personalized optical service for over two decades. Known for its focus on long-term patient relationships and high standards of care, the practice continues to evolve by incorporating modern diagnostic tools and products into its offerings.

?Our patients trust us not only to protect their vision, but also to recommend products that fit into their day-to-day lives,? said Dr. Morris. ?Whether it?s new lens technology or a hybrid frame like Nuance Audio, our team is always looking for solutions that align with our patients? needs.?

The integration of audio functionality into traditional eyeglass frames provides a convenient solution for multitaskers and professionals, particularly those who work remotely, attend virtual meetings, or rely on navigation apps. Nuance Audio Glasses are compatible with both iOS and Android devices and can be easily paired via Bluetooth settings.

Nuance Audio Glasses are available now at Parenti-Morris Eyecare. Patients can schedule an in-person consultation at either location to try on the frames, explore customization options, and speak with an optician about integrating the technology into their daily routine.
