Flintlock Storage has just completed a major upgrade of its facilities in Sevierville, TN. This expansion aims to provide a top-notch self-storage experience that caters to the varied needs of its customers. With this update, Flintlock Storage introduces a wide range of unit sizes and features, accommodating everything from personal household items to large vehicles like RVs and boats.

A key feature of this transformation is the launch of their online platform, which makes renting and paying for storage units a breeze. Customers can now easily check out available unit sizes, rent them online, and handle all billing on their website, with just a few clicks. This user-friendly site shows Flintlock Storage's focus on making things simple and stress-free, especially for people with busy lives.

"The revamp of Flintlock Storage is not just about expanding our physical storage capabilities; it's about redefining the entire customer experience," said Frank Vasi, a spokesperson for Flintlock Storage. "Our online portal and expanded unit offerings demonstrate our commitment to continue adapting and meeting the modern needs of our community."

The updated facility now features a detailed storage sizing guide on Flintlock's website. This handy tool helps people pick the right unit size, ensuring they get just the right amount of space without paying for more than they need. Flintlock offers units as small as 5x5 for minimal storage needs and up to 10x20 for storing the contents of an entire home. They've also added climate-controlled units to protect temperature-sensitive items like electronics, artwork, and antiques by keeping the temperature and humidity just right, detailed further at their website.

Flintlock Storage understands that everyone has different needs. That's why they've added new drive-up access to their standard units, making it easy to load and unload. With 24/7 access to the facility, customers have the freedom to visit their storage units anytime, whether they need to grab seasonal items or add last-minute inventory.

Security is a top concern, and Flintlock doesn't skimp on it. The facility has a secure gated entry and 24-hour video surveillance to keep everything safe and sound. Plus, an onsite manager is there to help with questions or concerns and to keep an eye on daily operations, giving an extra layer of security and support. For customers in the middle of a move, Flintlock offers a range of moving supplies and boxes right at the facility. This makes it easy to switch items into storage without multiple trips to buy supplies, streamlining the whole process.
