Brian Pfeiffer has announced that he has released on his website a review of the Rich Jerk product, which is making a comeback a few years after its success in 2006-2007. The product proved to be very popular when it was initially released. The people behind the product has just made it available for affiliates again, which made Pfeiffer decide to issue a review to serve as a guide for those who want to know more about the program.

Brian Pfeiffer, who operates the Marketing Meathead website, says: "The Rich Jerk first surfaced back in 2006/2007 with his first internet product. This product was responsible for many full blown internet marketers that made their first dollars online and many of them went on to become full time affiliate marketers and make 100's of thousands and millions in some cases. Now that he is back on the market, I have likewise issued a review so that people may know what it is all about and decide for themselves if it is for them."

The review at the website clearly discusses the various features of the program. Pfeiffer has also added a bonus: those who purchase the program through the site will receive a full coaching session on how to really make it work for them. Pfeiffer understands that the information in the program can be quite overwhelming because it is so comprehensive, and his coaching session can help people to actually make sense of it and then implement it.

Those who have signed up for the program through Marketing Meathead have made some positive comments. "I have been a big fan of Brian Pfeiffer for a long time and I know he will only recommend programs that can really make a positive difference," says one happy marketer. "When the Rich Jerk was re-released, I was skeptical to say the least. But when I saw that Brian recommended it as well, I started to take note and boy am I glad I did. Coupled with the coaching session, I really am ready to get started in the online world."

Pfeiffer is a very famous nightclub promoter, who has organized some of the biggest events across the country. He currently works mainly in Las Vegas and Chicago as a nightlife information guide.
