January 29, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Medical Negligence Claims UK is a group of solicitors helping people with medical/clinical negligence and wrongful death claims. The company has now added to their team for a more hassle-free client experience with a higher success rate.

According a representative for MedicalNegligenceClaims.co.uk, it has become hard for people to make medical or clinical negligence claims because the British National Health Service has had medical negligence compensation spiraling out of control over the years. Medical Negligence Claims UK is a company that states to have been serving citizens of UK for past few years in making medical negligence claims and receiving compensation from the NHS.

?Here at Medical Negligence Claims UK we have made it completely easy for people to file for a medical or clinical negligence claim; we also help people with wrongful death claims. For 2016, we have extended and added more proficient and experienced solicitors to our team. We will facilitate the entire process for our clients without any hassle for them, on a no win-no fee basis,? stated the Medical Negligence Claims UK representative in a press statement.

The company has now announced a better and upgraded service for clients in 2016 so that they can handle claims for their clients, more effectively and proficiently. The company website can be seen at <http://medicalnegligenceclaimsuk.co.uk/> where they have allegedly made it easy for people to start a claim. The home page boasts a form that people can fill to get started with a health negligence or wrongful death claim.

The representative further added to his press statement, ?We pride ourselves on the transparency or our service and the ease of access we provide to our clients; they can simply start a claim right from our website. Potential clients can get in touch with us and see if their case is eligible for a medical negligence claim.?
