Tree Amigos Expands Tree Removal Services Across Sussex

May 21, 2025

Lewes, ES - May 21, 2025 -
Lewes, East Sussex ? Tree Amigos, a leading arboricultural firm based in Lewes, has announced the expansion of its professional tree removal services to new areas within the Sussex region. Known for its high tree care and environmental responsibility standards, the company's move is set to improve access to expert arborist solutions in Brighton, Haywards Heath, and surrounding locales.

With more than a decade of operational experience and a certified team of tree surgeons, Tree Amigos brings precision and safety to the often complex task of tree removal. This development underscores the company's commitment to sustainable landscape management, public safety, and customer satisfaction across the Southeast.

According to Iain Hickinbottom, Managing Director of Tree Amigos, "Tree removal is often a last resort, but when necessary, it must be done safely and responsibly. We've built our reputation on doing just that ? exceptionally well. Expanding into additional areas makes it easier for homeowners, landowners, and public agencies to access reliable, qualified support when needed most."

The South Downs and wider Sussex region have experienced heightened demand for tree management services due to urban development pressures, climate-related weather events, and ageing tree stock. In towns like Brighton and Haywards Heath?both known for their mix of historic architecture and suburban greenery?the risks posed by structurally compromised or diseased trees are increasingly evident.

Tree Amigos' tree removal services are especially relevant in these contexts. The company specialises in standard and emergency removal projects, often involving trees that pose a safety hazard due to storm damage, root decay, or structural failure. With new service coverage, residents and businesses in these locations will benefit from Tree Amigos' expertise in managing hazardous trees without harming surrounding structures, utilities, or landscapes.

The expansion is also anticipated to improve public health and accessibility in high-use areas. Obstructive or dangerous trees near schools, parks, roadsides, or elderly care facilities can create significant risks if not addressed swiftly and appropriately. Tree Amigos aims to fill this critical gap by delivering dependable, fast-response service for communities that require urgent arboricultural attention.

The tree removal process at Tree Amigos is governed by stringent professional standards and a dedication to environmental stewardship. Removal operations begin with a site assessment and risk evaluation conducted by certified arborists. The team then devises a customised removal plan tailored to site constraints, species characteristics, and legal obligations such as Tree Preservation Orders (TPOs) or conservation area regulations.

When required, Tree Amigos uses sectional felling, a technique where large trees are dismantled piece by piece using ropes and rigging to prevent collateral damage. The firm also employs cranes for particularly complex removals. All work is carried out according to BS 3998:2010 standards, ensuring legal compliance and industry best practice.

Post-removal, stumps are efficiently ground down using compact, high-powered equipment that allows deep root removal, site levelling, replanting or new landscaping preparation. This method also mitigates the risk of fungal infections like Honey Fungus ? a common issue in gardens where old tree stumps have been left untreated.

Tree removal is one of the most dangerous arborist tasks, requiring advanced skills, specialised machinery, and strict safety protocols. All Tree Amigos operatives are certified in chainsaw handling, tree climbing, aerial rescue, and machinery use ? credentials awarded by the NPTC and LANTRA. The company holds public liability insurance up to £5 million and employer's liability up to £10 million, reflecting its comprehensive safety framework.

Feedback from residents and commercial clients highlights Tree Amigos' punctuality, professionalism, and attention to site cleanliness. Many customers report that the team left their property in better condition than before the service was performed, a testament to the company's ethic of respect and thoroughness.

Additionally, Tree Amigos places significant emphasis on post-project transparency. A site walkthrough with the client follows every removal job to review the outcome, ensure safety requirements have been met, and discuss optional replanting strategies. This approach ensures long-term satisfaction and helps integrate sustainable practices into modern landscape maintenance.

In addition to private contracts, Tree Amigos maintains close working relationships with local council Tree

Officers. This collaboration ensures that removal projects comply with environmental legislation and contribute to sustainable urban forestry objectives. The company often guides replanting options and long-term tree management strategies following removal, reinforcing biodiversity and green space resilience in urban environments.

As urban and suburban areas evolve, the importance of proactive and skilled tree management cannot be overstated. Tree Amigos' expanded tree removal services aim to meet this need while upholding its core values of professionalism, ecological awareness, and community trust.

Residents and property managers in Brighton, Haywards Heath, and surrounding regions can now contact Tree Amigos directly for safe, qualified tree removal assistance backed by years of experience and regional expertise.
